FLOOD LOSS MOUNTS IN VT.

Bridge Out in Flood—The ravaging flood waters loosed by the destruction of a dam at Pittsford sweep into Rutland, virtually isolating Vermont's second largest city. Here a bridge is down, destroyed by waters that spread in all directions. Damage was estimated at more than $2,000,000 and some 500 people are homeless.

Senators Due To Put O.K. on Tax Split Plan

The community property bill, which would permit husbands and wives to file separate tax returns and save Massachusetts taxpayers an estimated $32,000,000 to $100,000,000 annually in federal tax payments, went to the Senate rules committee today after the House committee had suspended rules to admit the bill for consideration by the present Legislature.

BULLETIN

The Community Property Bill was admitted to the Legislature for consideration at the present session today and referred to the Joint Committee on Legal Affairs for a hearing next week.

Because the bill was filed only last week and the deadline for filing new legislation was Jan. 17, the rules of both branches must be suspended by a two-thirds vote before the measure can be considered.

Favorable action was anticipated by the Senate committee, after which the bill will go to the legislative committee on legal affairs or committee on taxation.

Unanimous approval of the House Rules Committee came four hours after an enthusiastic throng, representing all walks of life, had voiced approval at a State House public hearing.

Only two appeared in opposition to the measure. They were Timothy J. Howes of Holyoke, a Harvard Law School student, and Arthur C. Conley, legislative counsel for the Mass. Federation of Taxpayers' Ass'ns. They urged the measure be referred to a recess commission for study.

Provisions of the bill are simple. By splitting income equally, a man and wife would file separate income tax returns and thus avoid the heavy surtax classification. Savings were estimated at between 23 per cent on a $4000 income to almost 43 per cent on a $32,000 income.

Backers of the bill expressed confidence that the measure would be adopted before the end of the present legislative session.

It was the consensus of private citizens, legislators and representatives of labor, veteran and social groups who crowded the meeting that not only would the law bring about tremendous savings, but would strengthen the marriage bond, help stave off another depression and pave the way to an acceptable solution of the state's financial problems.

Prominent among those who urged admission of the bill were Rep. Peter Jordan (R.) of Revere and Rep. David Cleary (D.) of Charlestown, its co-sponsors; Daniel Bloomfield, managing director of the Mass. Council of Retail Merchants, and Mayor Curley.

First-hand information on the operation of the community property law was given the committee by Lester Wisler of Oakland, Cal., a visitor, who said many war workers in his state were able to buy homes with the savings in federal income taxes made possible by the community property law.

Rep. Jordan told the committee

MRS. BERTHA SURPRISE COTE
Accused Slayer Visited by Daughter at Jail

Mrs. Cote Twice Secretly Visited At Plymouth Jail By Daughter, 6

PLYMOUTH, June 4—County jail officials revealed today that Mrs. Bertha Cote, 28, attractive Brockton widow who goes on trial for her life here June 16 for the bludgeon-murder of her husband, Rene, 35, last Dec. 28, recently received two visits from her six-year-oold daughter, Barbara Ann.

The mother-daughter reunions at the jail were closely guarded secrets. Arrangements for the child's visits were made by Defense Atty. Eben G. Townes, Sheriff Charles H. Robbins, and Mrs. Charlotte Wetherell of Spencer, Mrs. Cote's sister.

Barbara, who recently observed her sixth birthday, has been staying with her Aunt Charlotte in Spencer since her mother's arrest and arraignment last January.

A few weeks after she was jailed on the murder charge the attractive young mother expressed a desire to see her only child again. But she flatly refused to be a party to any reunion which would stamp the memory of prison bars on the mind of her carefree curly-haired daughter.

Fortunately, for Barbara Ann's sake, Plymouth County jail is quite commonly referred to in these parts as "the farm." Roadway signs for the direction of motorists designate it as "County Farm." Located about a mile from Plymouth center, the prison is an imposing but not foreboding two-story gray building.

Its front windows afford a distant but unobstructed view of the blue waters of Plymouth harbor. The building sets far back from the road. There are no high walls, no armed guards.

And so it was to "the farm" that Aunt Charlotte took Barbara Ann on her visits to see mother. On each occasion Mrs. Wetherell and the child were accompanied by two older women whose identity was not revealed to anyone, even to Mrs. Abbie Woodward, the jail matron. One of them, jail officers surmised, was Mrs. Cote's own mother.

When Barbara came to call, Mrs. Cote was taken from her upstairs cell in the women's section to Sheriff Robbin's private office on the first floor. His lavish office became Mrs. Cote's reception room. And to prevent Barbara's childish curiosity from attraction to the barred windows, Sheriff Robbins arranged that all the curtains in the room be drawn and the lights turned on.

In this unprisonlike atmosphere mother and daughter and other relatives embraced and chatted.

6 Somerville Schools Damaged by Vandals

Widespread damage caused by vandals in the Somerville High School gymnasium and at least five other school buildings, was disclosed today in a report sent by Building Comr. John F. Kennedy to Mayor G. Edward Bradley of Somerville.

All electric light bulbs in the million-dollar gym were smashed, 375 panes of glass were shattered; ropes which operate athletic equipment were cut with knives, and a canvas curtain separating the boys' and girls' sections was ripped, Kennedy said in his report.

Kennedy told the mayor that the new fire laws require "panic locks" on all places of public assembly and that the delicate mechanism of these locks is easily smashed by those desiring to break into public buildings.

Newly-painted walls in the Prescott School were smudged by vandals, Kennedy reported. At the Carr School on Atherton st., he said, a door was wrecked and panels were smashed.

At the Western Junior High School 87 panes of glass were broken. The Hodgkins School and the Perry School were also broken into. The latter building was thoroughly ransacked and the maintenance storeroom was broken into. Kennedy said he believed that the vandals were in search of skill tools recently purchased in connection with veteran rehabilitation work.

14 Lost As Lake Ship Sinks

SAULT STE MARIE, Ont., June 4 (AP)—Canadian authorities said today they received a report that the Great Lakes steamship Emperor sank in Lake Superior and that 14 persons were missing.

The report from the Coast Guard cutter Kimball said 21 persons were saved.

The body of a woman was recovered in the area, the Coast Guard added.

The ship was reported to have gone down in 64 feet of water at Canoe Rocks on Isle Royale, a United States National Park, 48 miles out in Lake Superior from the northernmost tip of Michigan.

7 Kin Greet Eire Mother at Airport

Once Mrs. Elizabeth Daly, 63, of Skibereen, County Cork, Ireland, made up her mind, it didn't take her long to become reunited with two brothers and two sisters she hadn't seen in over 40 years, and two sons who had kissed her good-by about 12 years ago.

To kiss her hello again at Logan airport after an uneventful flight from the Emerald Isle were Jeremiah Daly, Hopedale st., Allston, and Charles Daly, Faneuil st., Brighton, her sons; Lawrence Sullivan, Antwerp st., Brighton, and John J. Sullivan, Massachusetts ave., Lexington, her brothers; Mrs. Margaret Covel and Mrs. Mary Smith, both of Bayard st., Allston, her sisters, and Maurice Sullivan, Antwerp st., Brighton, a nephew.

With Mrs. Daly was another son, Rev. Michael Daly of London, a graduate of the famous Maynooth Seminary. Both will visit here for three months before returning to Europe.

Msgr. Riorden, 84, Dies in Watertown

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Daniel C. Riordan, 84, pastor of St. Patrick's parish, Watertown, died today in the rectory, following a long illness.

Msgr. Riordan, one of the oldest priests in the diocese, was also the oldest living alumnus of Boston College. He graduated in the class of 1879.

Some time ago he was paid unusual tribute by Archbishop Cushing during special ceremonies held at his church.

Although Msgr. Riordan was unable to attend the special mass, due to his health, he heard the entire ceremony and the high praise paid him through a special speaker system in his room.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

TOKYO, June 4 (AP)—The Railway Bureau moved today to stop the smashing of train windows, by imposing a penalty of 500 yen ($10) per window broken.

4 Missing in Vermont Floods, Loss Mounts

RUTLAND, Vt., June 4—At least four persons, three of them children, were missing today in the wake of a raging flood that virtually isolated this city of 18,000, caused damage estimated at more than $2,000,000 and left upwards of 500 persons homeless. The flood left Vermont's second largest city without water, gas and electricity. Emergency kitchens were set up to feed the homeless as National Guardsmen patrolled the inundated residential sections.

Julie Goldman, Revere Airways pilot, and Carroll Myett, Boston Record-American photographer, who flew over the devastated area, reported that the worst of Vermont's greatest flood disaster in 20 years appeared to be over. They saw thousands of persons working feverishly to clear debris and help rehabilitate the homeless.

There was no official casualty report, but police listed the four persons missing. They were: Mrs. Bernard Cohen and one of her children; Philip McKenzie, 9, and Richard LaVictorre, 10.

The Associated Press reported these highlights of the disaster:

More than 1000 persons were evacuated as the flood waters swirled on this city after breaking through the East Pittsfield Dam, about five miles to the north.

Both water mains leading from a city water-supply reservoir burst.

Public Works Comr. William Kallie estimated it would be between two and seven days before water could be restored.

Sixteen Army mobile kitchens were rushed from Fort Ethan Allen.

Gov. Ernest W. Gibson sent word he was on his way from Brattleboro for a personal inspection of the damage.

Rutland aldermen called a special meeting for today.

The main problem appeared to be in caring for the homeless—and everyone in the city joined in giving succor.

Between 200 and 300 persons slept during the night in emer-

Photographer Sees Flood From Plane

From an airplane flying a thousand feet above the city streets, Rutland, Vt., was a Page One picture today of the age-old battle of man against the elements.

When Julie Goldman, Revere Airways Pilot, and I took off from Revere at 6:30 a. m., on the 130-air-mile flight to Rutland, the flood already had been reported as a disaster, but we had no conception of the widespread area the rampaging waters had covered.

Rutland is a city hidden behind a cluster of hills. Everything was serene until we passed these sentinels of nature. But once beyond them, everything was havoc.

Water had spread out for more than a quarter of a mile over sections of the city. Houses, farms, and other buildings were inundated. The principal railroad bridge that spans East Creek was washed out.

Business was at a standstill. Everywhere people were rushing here and there, clearing away wreckage. The big dam which weakened under the pressure of the waters lies about nine miles north of the city. As we approached, water was still racing toward Rutland.

We flew low over the dam. At a 500-foot level we could see water gushing through. Holes in the dam were not visible. They were still covered by countless gallons of water. Far off in the distance, fog obscured the countryside.

Roadways were still under water. It was impossible to see the trunks of some trees. Soil erosion was apparent everywhere.

At the Rutland Airport, eight miles away from the flood-stricken area, Vermont officials reported waters were receding and that the worst was over.

Disaster seems awfully remote even at a distance of eight air miles—a few minutes ride. But it was brought forcibly to us when we landed at the airport. There, Julie Goldman, the pilot, asked for a cup of coffee.

"Coffee!" gasped the manager, in surprise. "I've been trying to get a cup of coffee since midnight. We probably won't have coffee here for days."

Shakeup Due In Providence

PROVIDENCE, June 4—Sweeping changes in the city government were predicted today in the wake of the resignation of Walter F. Fitzpatrick, city treasurer for the past 19 years and long a power in the municipal government.

Fitzpatrick specified the resignation must become effective not later than tomorrow. His withdrawal came only 48 hours before an accounting firm, hired to modernize the city's financial setup, had reported to the city council.

2 Boys, 17, Confess 40 Armed Holdups

Two mild-mannered co-operative Jamaica Plain youths of 17—neatly dressed and neatly groomed—readily confessed today they had staged about 40 armed holdups in various sections of the city during the past few months.

Their identities undisclosed, since they are still held on suspicion only, the pair's criminal careers were cut short last night when one of them was picked up at a dance hall in Amory st., Jamaica Plain. He was taken into custody when Patrolman Robert Griffin brushed against him, felt a hard object and turned up a gun from the youth's pocket.

A third member of the gang is known to police and is being sought for questioning.

The pair could make no estimate of the amount of money they had garnered in the holdups, but said one of their biggest hauls was made at a Dorchester milk company, where they picked up $500.

In the police lineup they answered the questions of Lieut. James V. Crowley quickly and as specifically as possible. They offered to list in writing, "as best as we can," the places and the persons they had robbed.

"Did you both have guns?" asked Crowley.

"Yes, sir," answered the taller of the two.

Among the victims they listed were three cab drivers, a Dorchester pharmacist, a Hyde Park delicatessen store and several pedestrians.

One of the youths was identified by Reuben Cohen, Washington st., Boston, who said he chased the pair until they dropped his wallet containing $135.

When another victim present at the questioning said two older men had robbed him of $128, one of the youths identified him and said thew had done that job.

They will tour the city with police today in an effort to point out scenes of as many robberies as they can remember.

Hague to Quit as Mayor After 30-Yr. Jersey Rule

JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 4 (AP)—Mayor Frank Hague, whose fabulous career as a political leader carried into the modern scene the excitement and fire of another era, announced with sudden abruptness today his retirement from office.

Mayor Hague

The 72-year-old Democratic leader who fought his way out of the poorest district of Jersey City to become one of America's most durable and powerful of Democratic figures told newsmen hastily summoned to his city hall chambers that he would step out as mayor on June 16—the 30th anniversary of his election to the post.

He wil be succeded by his nephew, Frank Hague Eggers, a city commissioner.

Hague said he was taking the step—long rumored but continually scoffed at by the city, county and State Democratic chieftain—because he felt "the time has come when, in justice to my city and my family, I must pass on the heavy burden of administrative duties to younger men."

The mayor, who has sat with the political mighty for three decades but never aspired to any higher office than head of this city of 300,000 persons, announced, however, that he planned to continue as Democratic leader in the State and also would retain his post as national committeeman and vice-chairman of the National Democratic Committee.

Announcement of the resignation came in a dramatic scene in city hall where Hague has sat as member of the city government for 34 years.

More than 100 city officials quickly lined up in front of the mayor's office. Tears were in the eyes of many, and one white-haired city clerk wept openly.

Hague' slong career as mayor of this city never has lacked for excitement and struggle. The firm, hard-hittig mayor loved a battle, political or otherwise, and never shied from meeting opposition headon.

Although he never smoked or drank, Hague saw to it that one of his governors, Edward I. Edwards, made New Jersey "as wet as the Atlantic" and Hague himself was credited with writing the 1932 national platform plank that brought repeal of prohibition.

Hague climbed to the top the hard-way. Born Jan. 17, 1876, one of eight children, he was expelled from school for truancy and went to work at 16 in the Erie Railroad yards. Soon he went into politics as a vocation, building an organization, block by block, district by district, and ward by ward.

Soon he was a constable, then a court clerk, a sergeant-at-arms of the New Jersey assembly, city hall custodian in 1911, Director of Public Safety in 1913 and mayor in 1917.

One in control of the city Democratic organization, Hague's elections, as well as those of candidates he supported, were virtually "unanimous."

Once he was quoted as saying, "I am the law," in discussing a juvenile delinquency case.

A famous civil liberties case grew out of Hague's orders to have CIO and left-wing speakers "escorted" out of the city in 1937. It was carried to the U. S. Supreme Court and the rights af free speech and assembly upheld.

In Democratic and Republican election campaigns Hague was invariably one of the basic issues. He himself once said, "I've been the issue in every campaign in New Jersey for 20 years. In that time the reform snoopers and the legislative committees have gone over the records until they are tattered and torn. All they can say is that I am boss. Well, no man can stay a boss for a quarter of a century unless he gives the people the kind of government they want and can hold up clean hands."

6 Facing U. S. Court In Woburn Still Raid

Six Greater Boston men faced Federal Court today in the aftermath of a Woburn raid which Internal Revenue Agents said uncovered an alcohol plant with a story-book setting that outdid the best offered in prohibition days.

The federal agents, along with Woburn police, descended at midnight on what Woburn residents long had known as a thriving mushroom-growing plant, near the Burlington line.

They found mushrooms, they said, and in addition an air-conditioned 500-gallon alcohol cooker.

Special burlapped planks, blotted out all signs of light from the inside, they reported, and special escape hatches were installed instead of usual barn entrances.

It was in one of the hatches, the agents said, that three of the suspects were nabbed.

Two others were seized, they added, as they fled a pulley-operated side door, while the sixth surrendered in a field outside the plant.

Those arrested included Arthur C. Rowe, 40, of Henry ave., Woburn who is charged with operating the plant; George Finocchi, 55, of Gov. Winthrop rd., Somerville; Albert Pattie, 39, of Boston ave., Somerville; Charles Midolo, 24, of Greenwood st., North Andover; Severino Pagnini, 51, of Main st., Everett, and the latter's son, Charles, 24, of Saratoga st., East Boston.

The raiders, led by Agent Burleigh W. Fletcher, waited for hours until the operators were going at full speed at midnight.

Agents reported the plant cost $30,000 to build and quoted one of the operators as saying this sum was paid off after the plant had been in operation only two weeks.

The product, 190 proof, was allegedly sold in five-gallon tins at $45.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1947, King Features Synd., Inc.

NEW YORK, June 4—The award of a decoration called the Medal of Merit to Philip Murray, president of the C. I. O., has been announced by the War Department.

Westbrook Pegler

The dispatch from Washington says this was done in recogntion of Murray's services in the field of labor during World War II.

This is not the first instance of the award of a strictly political decoration to a civilian by the War Department, but it should be the last.

The practice of the Department in the bestowal of decorations to soldiers as well as civilians should now be revised.

This was an unfortunate situation under Stimson and Patterson together and later under Patterson alone. Commissions were handed to individuals who thus not only escaped the perils of war but were spared even the rigors of basic training and the social handicaps of the enlisted soldier.

THESE OFFICERS, risen to the rank of colonel by an automatic boosting process that promoted a man irresistibly unless he were convicted of a felony, now are claiming the last dot and comma of their unearned privileges and exemptions under the G. I. Bill of Rights.

They should be glad to have saved their lives. The nation would have been far better off if they had been given political exemptions at the very beginning.

THE DISCLOSURE in the trial of ex-Congressman May of the use of political influence in the military trial of an officer charged with cowardice was followed by testimony that Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt butted in to get a commission for a fat man who had happened to be a friend of her late brother, Hall Roosevelt.

The fact that Mrs. Roosevelt's fat protege was an old friend of her late brother should have been no recommendation and, under a different administration, might have been held against him.

During the war, American soldiers got lectures in unionism disguised as "democracy" and some who wanted to go to the officers' schools were well advised to pretend, at least, that they believe this stuff. Otherwise they "didn't know what they were fighting for" and were obviously unfit for commissions.

DURING THAT time also the Margolis, who took the name of Gailmor, was invited to several of the Army's hospitals to lecture psycho-neurotics on his own brave fight to victory over some thing called a "compulsion neurosis." This made him steal automobiles.

His line was generally parallel to that of the radicals, but American soldiers had to sit and take this.

Certainly all this was no series of individual accidents. There were too many such things.

Robert Patterson himself, who became Secretary after Stimson, remarked one day that all he know about the Abraham Lincoln Brigade of the Spanish Army was that many of its members fought bravely against the Fascists.

That was a false statement by a man whose uniformed subordinates could be sent to prison and forever disgraced for the same offense.

Patterson ought to have known that the Abraham Lincoln Brigade was a Communistic outfit organized in our country in violation of our laws.

Some Americans who were seduced into it were murdered in Spain when they learned they were in a Communistic division and applied for release.

IN ANOTHER CASE, similar to Phil Murray's, the War Department placed a medal on a refugee from Germany born Johannes Stahl but known among us as Steel and known widely as a fellow of much the same ideological kind as Gailmor.

Like Gailmor and Curran, he performed no military service, although a more resourceful patriot might have found a way to put himself at grips with the despicable Nazi.

MURRAY SERVED the CIO in the war, and the CIO was guilty of some of the most disgraceful acts of greed and cynicism in American history.

It was a refuge of various cowards who got exemption on the ground that they served "our brave boys" by preventing the rank and file of American workmen from lying down on the job.

I can't see how Murray deserves a medal.

'Wrong World' Thought Sweeps Overell Trial

By ADELA ROGERS ST. JOHNS

Noted Writer and Novelist Whose Father, the Late Earl Rogers, Was Regarded as One of the Nation's Greatest Criminal Trial Lawyers

Special to the Boston Evening American

SANTA ANA, Cal., June 4—My father, a lawyer named Earl Rogers, who practiced in California for quite a few years, used to say that circumstantial evidence was finding a minnow in the milk. Unless the cow belonged to Barnum and Bailey, my father always said you didn't need to see anybody pour water into the milk.

The minnow, he said, was circumstantial evidence to the fact.

Most of us know what it is. But they're making rather a long business of explaining it to more and more prospective jurors.

These are the doldrums of jury selection.

We must bear with them. They are vital to you and to me. We must have a fair and impartial jury of their peers to determine the guilt or innocence of Louise Overell and Bud Gollum.

That is a democratic process and, like all of them, it's slow. And my father used to say that most cases were won or lost when you had selected your jury.

Nevertheless, a faint breeze seems to be stirring. You feel there will soon be 12 citizens ready to take up their dread and awesome duty.

Through the jammed courtroom you can feel a thought sweeping: What are we doing here?

What's the matter with our world that we have to be here today?

Can we get back on the road where such things don't have to be?

Lester Slayback, the court reporter, comes over to tell me he was at the same table when my father tried his last murder case in what was then the small town of Santa Ana.

Judge Kenneth Morrison was a clerk in this courtroom where he now presides over the trial of Overell and Gollum, and he says he used to get my old man to talk to him during the recess.

Mr. Kaufman, attorney for Bud Gollum, tells me that my father was "the greatest of them all."

Not too many years ago, I lived on a ranch only 12 miles from here and my oldest children walked through orange groves and walnut orchards to the little country school.

But we sit in the courtroom—jurors, attorneys, policemen, the press—to consider whether Louise Overell and Bud Gollum are guilty of a cold and premeditated murder or whether, as the defense will claim, the dead Overells planned a piece of cheap, ugly chicanery to get some insurance for dynamiting their own boat—and forgot to get off in time.

It is for their sake we have to be here.

What's the matter with everybody? God gave us such a beautiful world.

Look out that window. Look at the grass growing and the trees reaching up to the blue sky. Murder is such a dark and terrible thing.

Louise Overell has such a pretty laugh. High and light. It rings out through the courtroom, and Bud Gollum laughs until he has to hide his face in his hands.

It must be wonderful to be able to laugh like that in a murder courtroom. To put aside sorrow and suspicion and danger—and laugh.

Perhaps it is because they are young and don't yet acknowledge death. Even though it has come so recently, so terribly into their experience.

Hub-Bound School Patriots Hailed in Pittsburgh, Chicago

Special to the Boston Evening American

CHICAGO, June 4—Acclaimed by thousands at public appearances here and at Pittsburgh as American patriots, three Washington high school students who walked out in protest against a Communist lecture planned visits to Milwaukee and Detroit before going to Boston Saturday, where they will stay through Monday.

Their visit to Chicago, during which thousands of high school students crowded assembly halls to hear the story of their protest, was followed by the launching of a nationwide crusade to combat Communistic teachings and revive Americanism in the nation's school system.

Before coming here the patriotic trio had been similarly hailed in Pittsburgh, where they were made honorary life members of the National Flag Day Ass'n and cheered for their courageous stand.

In presenting the Flag Day memberships, Col. Franklin Blackstone, president of the Pennsylvania Society, Sons of the American Revolution, said:

"These honorary life memberships cannot be bought at any price. They are bestowed by unanimous vote of the directors. The last bestowals were to Gen. MacArthur, Gen. Wainwright, Sgt. Hayes who raised the American flag on Suribachi, Iwo Jima, and to William Randolph Hearst for unswerving devotion to his country in war and in peace."

Chicago's students were excused from classes to listen to the amazing story of the infiltration of Comunism in American schools

It was at Providence High in Chicago that Jean Tritt, leader of the graduating class, had pledge cards passed out to her classmates. They read:

"I hereby pledge myself to support the high ideals of Americanism and to oppose Communism as exemplified by the courageous action of Virginia Marakle, Ruthe Pigott and Richard Smith."

She then announced that with a group of her classmates she had organized a group to carry the crusade to the schools of the nation.

At every school visited, the principals lauded them for asserting themselves by refusing to listen to a Communistic lecturer paid by a school principal to belittle the American way of living.

"They understand what it means to be an American," said Mrs. Marie Voy Brewster, principal of South Shore High, in introducing the crusaders.

"If some stranger insulted your mother you would be mad enough to fight. Such slander against America is just like that. She is our great mother," she said.

The three young patriots went without breakfast in order to meet every engagement of a tight schedule. They lunched with the students at South Shore School and mingled with them on the campus.

"It is a grand thing to know that the students of Chicago's schools are solid and highly patriotic," said Dick Smith.

"Communism will not get a start here. I am sure the officials and students will be alert and what happened to us in Washington will not be repeated here."

Ruthe Pigott warned that Communism is an "insiduous thing," and cautioned pupils to be ever on the alert.

"For us the crusade is just beginning. When we saw the ease with which Communistic doctrine sneaked into our high school we became convinced that it can and will happen everywhere unless the students assert themselves," Ruthe said.

QUIZ SHOW KID

NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—For two days Patrolman Andrew Stoifvater watched a 17-year-old boy repeatedly enter and leave an office building.

Suspicious, the officer demanded explanation.

The boy had been visiting radio studios and still held tickets for 25 programs, mostly quiz shows.

Buckley Says El Audit Bares Hidden Facts

As the House today began consideration of the bill to bring the Boston Elevated under public ownership, State Auditor Thomas J. Buckley informed a group of legislators that his audit of the books of the railway has disclosed amazing and hither-to unknown facts which he will release as soon as they have been codified.

The bill being considered by the House provides that the El's 238,000 shares of common stock be purchased at $85 a share and operation of the system be placed under a newly created Metropolitan Transit Authority. The Senate passed the bill yesterday on a vote of 20 to 8.

Buckley pleaded with the legislators to protect the rights of the taxpayers in the 14 communities now served by the El system. He expressed the opinion that the El should be taken over by the right of eminent domain.

Baby Girl With Rare Malady Kept Alive on Donated Blood

ALLENTOWN, Pa., June 4 (AP)—To look at Mary Ann Meyer, a chubby little two-year-old, you wouldn't know she's living on borrowed blood. But despite the fact that she's had 58 transfusions and is suffering from a blood disease for which there is no known cure, neither her parents nor doctors have given up hope.

"We don't want pity," said her father, Harry C. Meyer, a painting and decorating contractor, as he watched her waltzing about the room clutching her bulky teddy bear by the ears. "And we'll never give up hope!"

Dr. J. J. Wenner, Allentown Hospital's chief pathologist, said the child is suffering a regenerative anemia, a malady extremely rare in medical annals.

But, said Dr. Wenner, "she is not doomed to die before her time."

Mary Ann gets a transfusion on the average of every three weeks. She has been back 44 times for transfusions at Allentown Hospital, where she was born Nov. 23, 1944.

The child's body is incapable of manufacturing its own red blood corpuscles, Dr. Wenner said, adding that with borrowed blood she may live a full life providing she can overcome any other disease which may strike her.

"Maybe tomorrow or the next day," said her father, "medical science will find some way to help our child make her own blood.

"Maybe it will be next year. Who knows? But each month she lives, the closer she is to that day."

Mary Ann does not understand why she makes so many trips to the hospital, but apparently she is little affected.

"Mary Ann is completely a normal child," her mother said. "She's full of life and plays just like any other child her age."

To demonstrate, Mary Ann danced through another whirl with the teddy bear as her parents and older brother and sister looked on.

CHINA STUDENT STRIKE

SHANGHAI, June 4 (AP)—Chinan University students ended their three weeks' srike and resumed classes today, but all other colleges remained closed as the government and army continued to refuse demands for the release of 32 local students arrested in a roundup of alleged Communist agents.

Sinatra Pays Writer $9000 In Sneak Sock

Special to the Boston American

LOS ANGELES, June 4—By making a public apology and by paying $9000 to Lee Mortimer, New York columnist, whom he slugged April 10 in Ciro's Cafe, Crooner Frank Sinatra averted prosecution on a battery charge.

Atty. S. S. Hahn, for Mortimer, and Atty. Isaac Pacht, for Sinatra, announced the settlement.

"Sinatra said the whole episode arose when acquaintances stopped at his table and claimed to have overheard Mortimer make a remark which aroused Sinatra's anger and resentment," said Pacht.

"On further inquiry, Sinatra ascertained definitely that Mortimer had made no remark and had not even known Sinatra was in the cafe, and, therefore, no provocation had really existed for the subsequent conflict."

Pacht said Sinatra expressed regret over the whole affair. Mortimer, through Hahn, said he was willing to and did accept Sinatra's apology.

Hahn announced Sinatra had agreed to pay Mortimer $9000 for what had occurred and for Mortimer's expenses in the case.

Mortimer agreed to the withdrawal of the battery charge.

Eastern Mass. Bus Truce Shaky

Although no-strike terms will be observed for about a week, trouble for thousands of Eastern Mass. Street Railway commuters still loomed today in Fall River, Lowell, Haverhill and Melrose.

More than 2500 drivers will vote on a compromise wage agreement tomorrow, with a strike vote to follow next Tuesday if the compromise is rejected.

In Fall River, especially, drivers seemed determined not to accept the company offer. There, Mark Sullivan, president of the Fall River local, declared:

"The only condition we will accept is a cut in hours from 48 to 40 and a 10-cent-an-hour pay boost."

Police said Armatiuk, a $38-a-week National Airline employe, boarded a plane at the Newark airport and emerged with the pouches.

U. S. Savants Commend Mexican Director for Ban on Vivisection

By DICK ARMSTRONG

Special to the Boston Evening American

MEXICO CITY, June 4—A flood of commendations for his courageous and enlightened action in banning the vivisection of dogs and other domestic pets is pouring in daily on Dr. Salvadore Gonzales Herrejon, director of the National School of Medicine here.

Signers of the approving letters and telegrams, which are arriving in especial volume from the United States, include physicians, teachers, legislators, ministers and humane groups.

Unofficially it was learned that heavy pressure has also been brought to bear on Dr. Herrejon by American vivisection lobbyists to persuade him to retract or amend his original declaration against torture of animals in the name of science.

The progressive director of the National School of Medicine, however, has stuck firmly to his original statement in which he denounced dog vivisection as "of little educational value and having grave disadvantages."

Among such disadvantages he listed the lessening of sentiments of commiseration and pity, false teachings due to superior biological resistance of animals and encouraging pupils "to operate for the sake of operating without a final cure as a goal."

Viewing the vast volume of communication today, Miss Maria Elena Perez, Dr. Herrejon's regular secretary, threw up her hands in mock despair, and said:

"We are hopelessly swamped."

In a number of cases doctors expressed their approval but asked that their names be withheld to avoid retaliation by fellow physicians.

Among the pro-vivisectionist forces to voice dis-agreement was the National Society of Medical Research, of Chicago.

Indicating belief that Herrejon had been misquoted, Ralph Rohweder, executive secretary of the society, volunteered to give full publicity in the American press to any retraction Dr. Herrejon might wish to make.

The vivisectionist lobby, however, was advised by Dr. Herrejon that he had been quoted with complete accuracy and that his statements expressed his feelings regarding the undesirability of vivisection as a teaching aid.

Typical of messages received by Dr. Herrejon is the following wire from Michael Moukhanoff, of Avon, N. Y., president of the International Council Against Vivisection:

"You may feel justly proud that you are the first director of a medical school who has had the courage, decency and vision to stop this barbaric practice."

From Los Angeles, Mrs. Rosemonde Rae Wright, president of the California Animal Defense League, wrote:

"We are heartily grateful for your stand and congratulate you. Our society will embody your distinguished statements in a leaflet which will be given worldwide distribution."

Robert Seller, of Albany, N. Y., president of the American Humane Association, said:

"Statements made by authorities like you are tremendously valuable in helping us charter a wise course."

Writing for the Nevada Humane Society, Lois Craig said:

"We are taking the liberty to extend our thanks and gratitude for your great humanitarian action."

A vast number of the communications, though, were from individual men, women and children, writing as private citizens, expressing their deepest gratitude and approval. Many of the letters closed with such phrases as "God bless you."

From her home at San Francisco, Dorothy Jones wrote:

"Greetings from California dog sympathizers. You have our undying gratitude and love."

Gladys Kinney Markle, of Underhill, Vermont, wrote: "I congratulate you with all my heart," and Eva Masters, of Garrison, N. Y., said:

"My heart rejoiced when I read you had outlawed this cruel and evil practice."

Among the doctors to express approval of Dr. Herrejon's statements was Dr. K. Kinmo, of Los Angeles, who wired:

"Hope your fine example extends to the United States."

Also receiving a heavy volume of congratulatory mail and telegrams from the United States is Mrs. Hannah Behrens, president of the Mexican Ass'n for the Protection of Animals, who spearheaded the antivivisection campaign in Mexico City.

VATICAN CITY, June 4 (INS)—Pope Pius received Lt. Gen. Geoffrey Keyes, U. S. commander in Austria, Mrs. Keyes and their children.

Split Tax Bill

that between 95 and 100 per cent of the members of the Legislature were in favor of the bill, but because there was a roll-call vote on the Elevated purchase bill, only 27 representatives and three senators were able to be present briefly at the hearing.

Cleary predicted Massachusetts will continue to be a "sucker state" if the law is not adopted, and that the Commonwealth may soon find itself the only non-community property state in the country.

"People of Massachusetts paid out $1,500,000,000 in income taxes to the federal government last year," Cleary said, "and the return was almost nil.

"States in the West and South get more back from the federal government than they contribute, and Massachusetts is helping carry their load.

Bloomfield favored admission of the bill so that whatever merit it had could be brought out and appropriate action could be taken.

Pointing out that Massachusetts was virtually making up in federal taxes for the smaller share paid in by community property states, Mayor Curley urged the committee to admit the bill and work then for its passage.

Sen. George W. Stanton of Fitchburg said the savings effected by passage of the bill would mean that a higher state income tax could be imposed and still leave the people a substantial savings. It would also serve to guard the state against another depression, he said.

Anticipating legal objections to the bill, John F. Rich, member of the firm of Burns, Blake and Rich, read an explanation of the bill written by former Superior Court Justice John J. Burns, who was unable to appear personally.

Burns wrote that the bill is constitutional, and that U. S. Supreme Court decisions since 1930 have always upheld the community property.

He pointed out that there is no constitutional way in which a man may share his income and property equally with his wife and thus secure the benefits of lower taxation except under a community property law.

After explaining that the law would in no wise affect property rights held separately by husband and wife before passage of the law, Burns said that the law was socially desirable in that it would recognize a wife's contribution to successful marriage.

He further commented that the husband would continue to exercise control of property and money acquired after marriage, but that for tax purposes income could be equally split, thus bringing husband and wife within the lower income class brackets.

Mrs. Mary Higgins, president of the Consumers Guild, an organization of housewives, favored the bill as a means of "relieving the man who must relieve the government of its tax problems."

Among the organizations recorded in favor of the community property bill and representing several hundred thousand members were: Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, Mass. State Federation of Labor, the Social Security Ass'n, State Transit Employes, World War II Allied Veterans, United Veteran Political Action Committee and the Lawence Chamber of Commerce.

The Mayors' Club of Massachusetts favored admission of the bill as did the Great Barrington board of selectmen, and the Mass. Taxpayers' Ass'n.

Members of the Legislature who personally appeared before the committee to be recorded in favor of the bill included: Reps. Ralph W. Sullivan, Boston; Paul Feeney, Hyde Park; Arthur J. Sheehan, Brockton; Daniel Casey, Pittsfield; Mrs. Leslie B. Cutler, Needham; Philip A. Chapman, Boston; Archie K. Bruce, Springfield; William J. Fitzsimons, Boston; James A. Burke, Boston; Jeremiah F. Brennan, Charlestown; Cornelius J. Rowan, Revere; Laurence J. Banks, Roxbury; Colin J. Cameron, Amesbury.

Britain Agrees To Give Up All Bases in India

NEWDELHI, June 4 (AP)—Viscount Mountbaatten, Viceroy of India, promised the Indian people today that Britain would retain no bases whatever within the subcontinent when its complete independence is achieved under the new British plan.

"I think it would be most improper for any foreign power to have bases in India," the viceroy said.

He made it plain that under the plan, announced yesterday, Hindustan (Hindu India) and Pakistan (Moslem India) would be independent both of British and each other and that neither could control the other on the question of oremaining within the British Commonwealth. Both will have dominion status for the transitional period.

"Dominion status is absolute independence," the viceroy said.

The native (princely) states will get their own independence as soon as power is transferred in the rest of India, Mountbatten said, and will be free to choose whether they will be independent or will join Hindustan or Pakistan.

Precautions have been taken, he revealed, to prevent bloodshed and minorities will be protected.

The visitors brought gifts; candy, cigarets, magazines, books and sewing materials.

Mrs. Wetherell comes here regularly to see her sister, making calls at intervals of about 10 days. An even more frequent caller these days now that the trial is fast approaching is the widow's counsel, Atty. Townes.

This is the interval between the two most publicized murder trials in Plymouth County's long history. But for county officials it is by no means a quiet interval. When Charles Russell Goodale of Onset was acquitted at 1:10 a. m., last Friday in the sex-slaying of Ruth McGurk of Cambridge last summer, court and jail attaches began immediate preparations for the regular June criminal session of superior court.

The grand jury is now sitting and there are almost two score cases to be disposed of. Next Monday, still another murder trial is scheduled in superior court.

Willy Chatmon, 28, of Bridgewater, faces trial for the murder of George Hester who was stabbed to death in a farm brawl in Bridgewater a year ago this week. The following Monday comes Mrs. Cote's turn.

In Barrel Murder

PHILADELPHIA, June 4 (AP) —As all leads to the identity of the slim, blonde victim of Philadelphia's barrel murder faded today, it was learned that she was strangled to death with a surgical bandage.

Dr. Benjamin A. Gouley reported following an autopsy that a 36-inch length of gauze had been wrapped four times about her neck and knotted in a fatal noose.

The homicide squad said it must have taken "two strong men" to carry the body in a heavy metal drum to the ravine where it was found by a junk dealer Monday.

Det. Sgt. Saamuel Riccardi said the woman was in her late twenties or early thirties, a little over five feet tall and weighed about 115 pounds.

Hospital Planes For All Predicted

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor.

ATLANTIC CITY, June 4 (AP) —Regular hospital planes, flying daily between New York, Minnesota, Chicago, Boston, the West Coast and the South, carrying sick people to medical centers, were predicted today to the Aero Medical Ass'n.

"I look," he said, "for a great advance in commercial airline transportation of the sick. Planes specially fitted, and carrying doc- ... be made economically profitable.

"Already in the Army and Navy the sick are moved almost exclusively by air. All except a few classes of desperately ill or dying persons can be carried by aair, provided they have the expert medical attention and equipment that would be available in a regular hospital ship."

SKIP styling for a moment — it's pretty well admitted by now that Buick has called the turn on the shape of cars to come.

And for the present, slide over performance — with that big bonnetful of Fireball power, nobody's going to challenge you much on the open road.

What else has the trim Buick got that others can't quite come up to?

You find one big answer where the cobbles are plentiful, the car tracks tangled, the bumps big.

This brawny traveler has a ride — a smooth, level, easy stride that makes you think of a canoe drifting in quiet waters.

One reason: It was Buick that first introduced the American public to soft, gentle coil springing on all four wheels.

THESE IS IT

— four big-but-gentle coil springs permit each wheel to "step over" bumps as it reaches them. It is this independent action of each wheel that gives Buick its matchless buoyancy on any and all roads.

It was Buick that first made it possible for each wheel to step over bumps as they came along, leaving the frame and body to pursue their level way undisturbed.

Buick's coil springs keep their gentle softness always. They need no greasing or attention. They are unaffected by dirt, wear or the weather, and breakage is practically unheard of.

The net of it all is that you put yourself on Easy Street when you seat yourself in a Buick. You make every road a better road—every ride an adventure in smooth and buoyant comfort.

Why not drop in and learn more? Whether you have a car to trade or want to talk on a "clean deal" basis, you'll always find a warm welcome here.

Sen. Bilbo Waits 3d Jaw Operation

NEW ORLEANS, June 4 (AP)—Sen. Theo Bilbo, awaiting his third jaw operation here, told his doctors that the first thing to do was fix him up so he can eat.

"Then," Bilbo said, "they can fix me up so I can speak. When I got through with this I am going to eat three steaks a day for 30 days—to catch up. I'm going to have some trouble when they bind me up with that new chin to heal. Won't be able to eat, talk, smoke or even spit for six weeks."

His fourth operation will consist of grafting a piece of his hip bone to his chine.

JAP CAPTAIN CONVICTED

Guam, June 4 (AP)—Capt. Fumio Inouye was convicted today by a U. S. military commission of the wartime murder of eight Marshall Island natives. Sentence was deferred.

Explosives Mailed to High Britons

LONDON, June 4 (INS)—A number of prominent Britons—reportedly including Colonial Sec. Arthur Creech Jones—were disclosed today to have received posted envelopes containing explosive powder.

Unconfirmed reports said similar letters also had been received by Field Marshal Montgomery, and Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the Board of Trade.

Scotland Yard, which made the announcement, said the envelopes were mailed in Italy. They were apparently designed to explode when opened.

Persons receiving suspicious appearing envelopes mailed in Italy were warned to hand them over immediately to the nearest police station.

The lethal packets consisted of an outer cream colored envelope eight and three-quarter inches by six and one-half inches enclosing a smaller envelope containing the powder.

The name and address of the person for whom they were intended was typewritten on both envelopes. The inner one, however, was stamped "private and confidential."

EARTHQUAKE IN UKRAINE

AMSTERDAM, June 4 (AP)—The Royal Dutch Meterological Institute at De Bilbt reported a "fairly strong earthquake" today with its center 1300 miles to the east southeast (the area of the Soviet Ukraine).

Get Rid of Excess FAT with this HARMLESS DRUGLESS Program

Do you feel as though you have a rubber tire around your stomach? Do your fat arms distress you? Is your face pudgy looking because of surplus flesh? Does that layer of fat across your back and shoulders classify you as "fat and forty"? If so you'll be interested in the CARLTON REDUCING PROGRAM and drugless CARLTON CAPSULES. If you're a normal overweight person and if there's nothing organically wrong with you there's no reason why you won't reduce with this plan. The CARLTON REDUCING PROGRAM is guaranteed safe and harmless and yet is amazingly effective, the low-calorie menus making possible reductions of up to five pounds the first week and even more, with the resulting great benefit to the health and general well being.

CARLTON CAPSULES are a combination of essential elements which are lacking in the restricted low-calorie CARLTON PROGRAM menus. They are absolutely free from harmful drugs and are so guaranteed. They contain no thyroid or other dangerous reducing drugs—no reducing salts or other harmful laxatives that physic the system and leave the skin loose and flabby. The CARLTON REDUCING PROGRAM, on the contrary, enables you to take off weight—gently—gradually—without the slightest harm or danger. The CARLTON REDUCING PROGRAM enables you to eat the foods you like because you don't cut out fatty, starchy foods—you just cut down on them, and take CARLTON CAPSULES to assure adequate intake of essential factors that are insufficient in the reducing menus. "Results," say users, "are simply amazing." Unsightly fat seems to melt away like magic leaving no saggy, flabby skin or broken down tissue.

Why be fat when you can now get the CARLTON REDUCING PROGRAM and a two weeks' supply of CARLTON CAPSULES for only $1.98 with the understanding that if you are not satisfied with the results, you have the privilege of returning the empty carton and we will return your money. (Mail orders sent postpaid).

To every young man about to graduate from high school

A CHALLENGE TO THE CLASS OF '47

Your country needs you now. The future of a free America may rest on your decision.

There is no Draft today to put you in the Army. Yours is the first class since 1940 that faces a free choice. But with that freedom, as with every freedom, goes responsibility.

The nation has put the maintenance of a strong, alert, defensive force squarely up to you. This is the only country in the world that dares to raise and maintain a million-man Army by voluntary enlistment, in the American tradition. The duty of keeping our Army ready for emergencies is shared by every citizen—for never before, in peacetime, has the need for it been greater.

Our freedom, our ideals, the safety of our homes and families, depend on a world peace backed by firmness and justice. It's your Army now—yours to keep strong.

Joining the Army as a volunteer may mean some sacrifice to you. On the other hand, you have much to gain from the experience. Sound physical condition, training in leadership, world travel and adventure, the comradeship of a fine group of young men, a job with a real future at better pay than you can get in most civilian work—all these make the Army an excellent career for young men who can measure up to its high standards. And in addition you will be entitled to educational benefits under the GI Bill of Rights, if you enlist before Congress officially terminates the war.

Before making your decision, get the full story of this career opportunity at your nearest U. S. Army Recruiting Station.

Vermont Flood

gency cots set up in Memorial State Armory.

The Rutland Herald was unable to publish its morning edition as power failed.

At least three large bridges—one of them a railroad span—and six small ones were washed away.

Among the small ones destroyed was the "76" Bridge just north of Rutland—a covered wooden bridge that long has been regarded as one of New England's historical landmarks.

All communication with this city was virtually cut off.

The telephone company has installed an emergency line—reserved only for acutely needed calls.

The center of the city—resting as on a hill—escaped damage.

A heavy ground frost in the area dissipated well before noon and the weather was warming.

U. S. meteorologists predicted clear and cool weather tonight and tomorrow.

Still holding was the big Chittenden power dam five miles north of East Pittsford—one of the largest dams in the state, serving as a basin for the drain from the Green Mountains.

Scores of narrow escapes were reported.

Three men working atop an emergency power company truck were marooned for some time until they made their way to safety by climbing hand-over-hand on a telephone line.

Torrential rains—the heaviest in 2 0years—sent the East creek on a rampage.

The East Pittsfield dam, rebuilt after having been destroyed in the 1927 flood, covered an area of 40 acres. When it gave way before the weight of the flood, the water in the East and Otter creeks rose immediately

Many evacuees were taken out in boats and canoes, but a majority had heeded police and National Guard warnings and reached safety before the speeding water hit the city proper.

Witnesses reported that the water from the ruptured dams rushed in so fast that it buried rapidly moving vehicles attempting to run ahead of it.

The racing waters carried away the only two mains from the city's reservoir, one a 16-inch pipe and the other 12 inches in diameter. Officials said it might be several days before repairs could be completed.

The New England Power Co. planned to generate electricity for the community at is Bellows Falls hydro-electric plant.

Mrs. Flora M. Gillette, 75, reported that water came up to her waist before she was rescued from the second floor of her home.

Meanwhile, reports reached this city that the town of Proctor, west of this community, also had been hit hard.

Four houses and a vacant store were demolished in Chittenden village

Dr. Bush Hails Switch To Science in America

NEW YORK, June 4 (INS)—Dr. Vannevar Bush said the switch in attitude of Americans toward science was one of the greatest postwar changes.

The president of Carnegie Institution told an alumni group at Columbia University that the government now is spending three times as much money on research and development as the whole nation spent before the war.

FRANCO'S SISTER INJURED

JAEN, Spain, June 4 (AP)—Senora Pilar Franco de Jaraiz, sister of Generalissimo Franco, was slightly injured when an automobile in which she was riding overturned.

Lucky Runyon Fund Donor to Get Free Home

By FRANK CONNIFF

Special to Boston American

NEW YORK, June 4 — Know where you can get a spiffy six-room house, completely furnished, all modern improvements, no down payment required, pleasant neighborhood, because you select it yourself?

A modern house for modern living, and a bargain if I ever saw one.

The way you get a hammerlock on this dreamboat I'm touting defies all recognized precepts for financing a home. Money is only incidental. A slogan that tells a vital story in a few trenchant words may prove the open sesame and full title to the works.

I'm talking, of course, about the pre-engineered celotex house currently up for grabs in Columbus Circle. Drop in any time and take a whack at the contest sponsored by the Damon Runyon Memorial Fund for Cancer Research.

A contribution deposited as you pass over the threshold is your entrance fee. Case the place at leisure, then scrawl the slogan you think will prove most effective in keynoting the drive against cancer. Go home and await delivery.

The staff on duty at the circle has accumulated definite evidence of the human impulse toward goodness since establishing headquarters in the celotex house.

Every day a meticulously scrubbed moppet appeared daily at 4 p. m., when the daily entertainment begins. Scrubbed to the teeth and buoyed by the dignity of his seven years, the youngster listened judiciously to the program, dropped his nickel, and departed.

A Powers model, on duty at the house, asked: "What's your name?"

"Can't tell you," stammered the boy. "Mother says not to talk to strangers. Says I'll run into trouble soon enough."

"Why do you give us your nickel every night?"

His answer was measured and deliberate. "Well," he said, "I like your program. I like what you're doing. I'd rather give the nickel to fight cancer than spend it on an ice cream cone."

And they never did get his name!

That reminds me.

The little fellow with the nightly nickel is way ahead of me. My slogan and contribution goes to Damon Runyon Memorial Fund for Cancer Research, Columbus Circle, New York 19, N. Y.

How about you?

These Days

THE MOST USUAL CONTACT that most Americans have with their government is with the post office and the postman. The post office does a huge business at a deficiency.

Postmen are poorly paid in comparison even with other government employes.

Post offices are usually dirty, ill-kept places, except in those colossal, ornate, marble and granite buildings erected wastefully and beyond practical needs. Of course, there are plenty of exceptions and this is not intended as a reflection on the men down the line, but on the incompetence of the politicians who operate this business enterprise.

The real trouble is that the politician appointed to run the post office is usually either chairman of the Republican or the Democratic National Committee and therefore has no time to operate the business for which the taxpayer pays him a salary.

The present Postmaster-general, for one reason or another, is not around too much to manage this business. Its policies are made by the permanent subordinates, who, at any rate, know that a stamp is not something exclusively for philatelists.

EACH YEAR the post office comes to Congress to make up a deficit. Nobody investigates why the P. O. has a deficit. Nobody tries to find out why it cannot be run efficiently. The problem is to make up the deficit.

The Democrats for 15 years wangled this problem without too much trouble, because they did not care how much they spent. The Republicans, who should shake out the waste in government, take the post office's word for it that there is a deficit and decide that one way to make it up is to add $8,200,000 by a new tax on the users of "second-class" mail.

They select 250 out of 25,000 users of second-class mail to make up this amount. And they justify the discrimination by the New Deal doctrine that the more competent and successful should be penalized in the interest of the smaller units. It was generally thought that that doctrine died with Harry Hopkins.

The post office asks for an appropriation of $1,500,000,000, which is more than they are spending this year and is twice as much as during the pre-war years.

THE TYPES of publications selected for soaking are metropolitan newspapers, farm journals and national magazines. All other publications will be exempt from the new provisions.

Small newspapers are exempt; labor, religious, fraternal and veteran publications are exempt. The large magazines will really carry the full load, which is what the post office plans should be the case.

The 15 large, national circulation magazines are the ones that are to be soaked. These magazines generally pay their way completely; that is, they paid $6,579,080 in postal receipts against $6,570,332 in ascertained postal costs for the fiscal year June 30, 1945.

Now, generally speaking, very few care about the other fellow being soaked, so those who are exempt will be well pleased that the load has been passed to the other fellow. If, however, these 15 discover some way of getting out from under, by rearranging their publishing or some other means, the deficit will be there again next year and somebody now exempt will have to be soaked. So passing the buck does not solve the problem.

THE WAY TO SOLVE this problem is to discover who says there is a deficit and why. The Administration ought to hire one of the great business engineering firms of the country to study the post office as a business enterprise, with the object of reorganizing it so that it functions right.

Cutting airmail for spotlight politics and then searching around for some place to tack on the deficit is not a business operation. Nor is it a business operation to promote one kind of mail against another, airmail against ordinary mail—and then to send airmail by train, without a rebate to the sender, as was done for many years.

All these shenanigans represent nothing realistic. Soaking the 15 big magazines will probably bring no additional revenue, but it looks like good politics to soak the successful.

Good politics for whom? For the Postmaster-general or for the country?

Off a Pole at Kelley's Landing

It's Time

A South Boston youngster opens his personal bathing season with a swan dive, plunging from high atop a light pole at Kelley's Landing, much to the amusement of onlookers. Hub beaches open officially on June 15, but this fella couldn't wait.

See Speaker Frederick B. Willis and the other members of the Rules Committee of the House of Representatives whose pictures appear above, or write or telephone them, and let them know how much you appreciate their wise decision to make it possible for the people of Massachusetts to reduce their Federal income taxes as much as $100,000,000 and thus to keep Massachusetts money in Massachusetts to benefit Massachusetts.

MAJOR ENEMIES

DR. MORRIS B. FISHBEIN, editor of the American Medical Journal has listed seven major problems which medical science still must solve. They are:

1—Heart disease which kills more people than any other illness.

2—Cancer, the cause of one of every eight deaths.

3—Virus infections, including infantile paralysis and the common cold.

4—Atomic radiation and its effect on human tissue.

5—High altitude and speed damage to pilots.

6—Degenerative diseases of the nervous system.

7—Neuropsychiatric problems induced by modern living.

The solutions would be hastened immeasurably if the people of the United States could be persuaded to attack the threats to their own lives with the same grim determination with which they fight wars for mass murder and wholesale destruction.

All the maladies which Dr. Fishbein mentions are capable of elimination or cure, and each is a challenge to our individual and collective ingenuity and resourcefulness.

When one realizes that heart disease, cancer and virus infections were responsible for the deaths of thousands as far back as the eras of the Egyptians and Bablyonians, he must admit that the progress of medicine is slow almost to the point of inertia.

STILL WE LAG

THE Edison Electric Institute reports that New England's power gain for the week ending May 17 was the lowest in the country.

The percentage increase over last year was 23.6 per cent for the South, 19.2 per cent for the Rocky Mountain area, 19.1 per cent for the Pacific Coast and ONLY 5.9 PER CENT FOR OUR SIX STATES.

Obviously, we are not keeping pace with the rest of the country in the use of electricity in our homes and factories and on our farms.

Nor are we attracting the new industries which would increase the wealth of our cities and towns.

The dove on yon withered bough
That lately mourned her mate
Has found another comrade now
Such changes all await.
If nature has decreed it so,
With all above, and all below
Let us like them forget our woe
And not be killed with sorrow.
If I should quit your arms tonight
And chanced to die before 'twas light
I would advise you—and you might
Love again tomorrow.
—PHILIP FRENEAU.

NOW A CHICAGOAN has invented a dentist chair which will permit a dentist to sit down while he works. This, says the inventor, will add five years or more to a dentist's professional life. That many dentists quit before they should because their legs go back on them. No doubt the man is right. Besides, it will be easier on patients who have late afternoon appointments. Dentists who have been standing up all day are often not in the best of humor around four in the afternoon.

PLEASE NOTE: "Airline pilots have frequently recommended 10,000-foot runways as a proper margin of safety for takeoffs of planes, particularly the fast giant air liners." That's what David L. Behncke, president of the Airline Pilots Ass'n, has stated. One of the recent horrifying plane disasters took plane on a runway 35 hundred feet long!

TARZAN: Tarzan has been on the screen 30 years. Elmo Lincoln was the first actor to portray Tarzan. There have been nine other actors who have played Tarzan since then. If you can't name seven of these as quick as a flash and half, stop calling yourself a film fan with a memory. Edgar Rice Burroughs, who originated the Tarzan character and has made millions of dollars with it, never wrote a line until he was 36 years old. After failing in the operation of a number of small business enterprises he suddenly decided to become a writer.

ASKING: Queries from clients. Q—From what popular song is the line, "Nothing's Worth-While But Dreams Of You"? A—That's from the hit of the yesteryear titled "Dearie." Q—What is the record for a high jump by a horse? A—You have me baffled. I can find no records as to high jumps by horses. Q—Is Grace Tibbett, the poetess you occasionally quote, any relation to Lawrence Tibbett, the singer? A—Grace Tibbett was the first Mrs. Lawrence Tibbett. They were divorced some years ago. Q—Who was the soft-shoe dancer with Mabel Hite in a vaudeville act? A—Couldn't say. Only person I ever saw with Mabel in a vaudeville act was her husband, Mike Donlin. Mike was certainly not a soft-shoe dancer.

BRIEFLY: No left-handed golfer has ever won a major championship. Ask the nearest southpaw what he has to offer as an explanation of this . . . INCREASING HEIGHT: A San Franciscan claims that to become eligible for the fire department of his city he managed to increase his height two inches.

Judge Burns' Sound Advice Prevails

THE COMMITTEE ON RULES of th House of Representatives has voted f admit the Community Property Bill f the Legislature's consideration.

Seldom, if ever, in the long history of th Commonwealth has there been a wiser, be ter or more democratic decision.

If the Senate Rules Committee concurs the action of the House Committee, the pe ple of Massachusetts may look forward co fidently to saving at least thirty-two millio dollars on their Federal income taxes, an probably as much as one hundred millio dollars.

Instead of increasing taxes, the Mass chusetts lawmakers will be able to redu them drastically.

We are pleased and privileged to print th pictures of the members of the House Co mittee on Rules on this page.

And we hope that all their constituen will make it a point to see them personal and express, as one neighbor to another, th satisfaction and gratitude of every pers who wants Massachusetts money to stay Massachusetts to benefit Massachusetts.

THE VIEWS of the overwhelming majorit of the people of the State were accurat ly expressed yesterday by Judge John Burns, one of the country's outstanding ci zens and a distinguished member of the ba who said:

"Passage by Massachusetts of a Co munity Property Act will prevent the lo of many millions of dollars per year. I ha heard estimates ranging as high as one hu dred million dollars.

"The citizens of this Commonwealth, especia in view of the severe competition from other Sta that continually confronts them, are not so affluе that they can light-heartedly suffer such losses.

"Further, the system which forces Massach setts to pay more taxes than Community Prope States is an unhealthy one for the whole nati It is not salutary to permit wealth to flow to p sons who make no economic contribution in retu The result simply is to chase people away fr the most productive regions.

"THE United States Congress has been cog zant of this situation, but has consisten failed to face it. Only last week the Sen voted down a proposal to split incomes between husband and wife, though it promised to consi the matter at a later date.

"Meanwhile, the Federal Courts and the Bure of Internal Revenue, while pampering their Co munity Property children, have severely disciplin their Separate Property children. It is well kno that industry is moving to the Community Prope States to reap tax advantages, and many persons wealth are shifting their residences for the sa

"I WOULD NOT SUPPORT THIS LEGISL TION IF I THOUGHT IT WAS SOCIALLY U DESIRABLE. BUT I AM CONVINCED TH THE ACT WILL FURTHER A STRONG A SOUND MARITAL POLICY.

"It recognizes a long-neglected principle t the wife, through her domestic efforts, makes important a contribution to the success and hap ness of the family—and the individuals in it— does the husband who actually accumulates economic wealth.

"Yet, because her activities produce no inco the wife receives no compensation for her servi and has no claim to the fruits of her husband's forts, which she in large measure makes possi

"THE COMMUNITY PROPERTY METHOD DISTRIBUTING EARNINGS CORRECTS TH UNFAIR CONDITION AND, IN MY OPINION, IS A GENUINELY DECENT RECOGNITION THE WIFE'S CONTRIBUTION TO HER MA RIAGE.

"I THINK that it is abundantly clear that Community Property Bill makes no atter to revolutionize the marriage more.

"BUT IT DOES HAVE THE EFFECT OF G ING FULL RECOGNITION TO THE PROPO TION THAT MARRIAGE IS A JOINT EFFO AND THAT COMMON ENJOYMENT OF T FRUITS OF THIS EFFORT CAN ONLY SER TO STRENGTHEN THE BOND OF MUTU SACRIFICE AND DEVOTION THAT EXISTS THE FAMILY.

"It is ironical that the present tax laws fa divorce by permitting the ex-husband to deduct alimony payments.

"Yet a married man, who is subject to the sa tax brackets as a single person, can get no ded tions for supporting his family, except a gro inadequate exemption for dependents.

"In addition to its other benefits, I believe t the Community Property Bill would relieve situation."

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, June 4 (INS)—Norma Shearer is reading the script of Christopher Blake" for Jack Garner. It looks very good for her to star in Moss Hart's play with Irving Rapper directing. Norma, her husband, ex-ski racher Marty Arrouge, and the two children, Irving, Jr., and Katherine Thalberg, sail on the Mauretania Aug. 22 for Switzerland. The children will go to school, Norma and Marty will go on to St. Moritz and also attend the Olympic Games.

HUMPHREY BOGART and Lauren Bacall just got back from Mexico. "Is Baby on suspension?" I asked him.

"Oh, yes," he said, "but it's a very friendly suspension. She isn't mad at Jack Warner and he ain't mad at her. She just didn't want to sing seven songs in a picture. Her voice isn't that good. But when he has another picture she'll make it, provided it's the right one."

Bogey's going to do "Disbarred," the story of a lawyer who gets himself into lots of trouble, for Mark Hellinger.

ERICH POMMER, who is head of the film center for American Information in Germany, is in America briefly to see his wife and to consult with some of the Washington military heads. Erich, formerly king-pin of the UFA studio, is making his pictures for Uncle Sam at the Tempelhof studio in Germany, which is much smaller than UFA, now located in the Russian zone. They are using no German players who ever appeared in propaganda films.

THERE'S NO TRUTH in the story that Ingrid Bergman expects a baby. She has heavily invested in "Joan of Lorraine," which starts July 14 at the Hal Roach studio, and Ingrid is much too smart a business woman to let all the work go on if she knew she couldn't play the part.

She conferred with Victor Fleming, her director, and Walter Wanger, her producer, and surprised them by handing them a script on the life of Joan of Arc, which she had written even years ago when she was just learning English. Maxwell Anderson is, of course, preparing the actual screenplay.

CHIT-CHAT: David Niven was telling me about his 4-year-old son, David, now in England with his little brother waiting for his father to arrive.

Young David has learned to write and in one of his letters he wrote, "Dear Daddy, I am going to be a doctor because I want to listen to ladies' heartbeats."

"What do you think of that?" said David. "He's starting young, isn't he?"

David said he's very eager to get to England to see the boys. His father-in-law, with whom the boys live, had to make a trip to New York. "I was sorry I couldn't see him," said David, "but I talked to him on the telephone and he tells me the boys are fine."

June Havoc hurries to Bridgeport, Ct., to play in the tryout of "The Girl of the Golden West," a revivial of the old Belasco play which the theater is producing. However, even if the play opens in New York, June will not be free to accept the top role until after she plays the secretary in "Gentleman's Agreement."

Her selection for the Darryl Zanuck picture is very interesting. She once was in "Dunnigan's Daughter," directed by Elia Kazan, who is directing "Gentleman's Agreement," and he asked her to come and make a test. He was called to New York, so Moss Hart carried on for him and made such a good test that June now joins Gregory Peck and Dorothy McGuire.

Some of the scenes are being made in New York, so June will stay right there.

I read "Nine More Lives" and enjoyed every page of this Hollywood mystery by Michael Morgan, before I knew it was written by two of my press agent friends, Teet Carle and Dean Dorn. Teet is one of the top praisers at Paramount and Dean used to be at M-G-M.

If it doesn't become a movie—I miss my guess. A murder with a Hollywood background isn't new, but the hero is a movie stunt man whose daredevil antics would make a lot of exciting action even if the plot weren't zinging with plenty of chills.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: Hedy Lamarr and John Loder had dinner together at a quiet little restaurant last night and later went to see "Great Expectations." I wish I could say there were great expectations for them, but so far it's status quo: Kyrle Bellew tells me it was Ivan Foxwell who was out with Betty Hensel and not Richard Ney. The two men look very much alike. Betty, it seems, is quite taken with Foxwell.

Jimmy Durante has a new girl and a very pretty one, named Emily Jones. They were at a table for two at the Santa Monica Mayfair the other eve, and that's not the first time they have been out together.

Dick Haymes' brother, Bob Stanton, and Frances Rafferty will marry as soon as she is free. Dick and his wife expect their baby very soon.

Edna Cantor, Eddie's daughter, and Cy Howard are becoming warmer than the weather. He is the divorced husband of Nan Wynn, and Edna was once married to Jimmy McHugh, Jr. Mrs. Cantor, who is crazy about young Jimmy, sends him gifts to England where he's now living.

One of the most attractive houses I have seen in a long time is that of the Fred Packards at Toluca Lake—an English house sloping down to the lake. It looks like one of those you see in House Beautiful. Mrs. Arthur Rank, who wore orchids in honor of her granddaughter's baptism, told me, with pardonable pride, she's never seen a sweeter baby. Rank also did a few raves over the baby and regrets there will be 6000 miles between them. Mrs. Larry Cruickshank was the godmother. Katina Paxinou, Deborah Kerr, Greer Garson and Mary Pickford are a few of the people I saw flitting about the Packard garden.

Maurice Weisselbaum, who was once engaged to Ann Miller, has given his bride-to-be, Mrs. Ruth Karl, the biggest diamond ring seen around these parts in a long time. Mrs. Karl is the ex-wife of Harry Karl, who will shortly put a wedding ring on Marie McDonald's finger.

Arthur Rank and Robert Young took a day off from their Hollywood social activities to accompany Louis B. Mayer to his ranch.

Elizabeth Dawson, the wife of Marvin Miller, whom you have probably heard on my radio show and seen in the movies, is having the first "One Man" show of her paintings. Her piece de resistance is a life size portrait of Marvin. The exhibit starts June 9 at the Chabot Galleries.

A very cute foursome was Diana Lynn, Bob Neal, Gail Russell and Guy Madison at Peggy Cleary's Talk of the Town. One of these days we're going to get a long distance call from Gail and Guy that they are married.

Queenie Vassar and Joseph Cawthorne celebrate their 47th wedding anniversary this week. Congratulations to two nice people.

Boston After Dark

THOUSANDS OF RACE TRACK bettors learned by personal experience of an unique way to lose a bet when Rocco Sisto, a sterling jockey, fell off the horse, "Son of Tarra," when the only way "Son of Tarra" could have lost the race was by having his jockey fall off . . . Or drop dead . . . "Lost boy"—it read in the chart describing the race . . . "Boy" is race track terminology even if the so-called "boy" is as old as Sisto and is apparently strong enough to hang onto a horse's back.

NEWSPAPERMEN ruefully recalled another race at a New England track when a horse called "Gusto" was leading in the stretch by as much open daylight (about six lengths) as "Son of Tarra" was leading when it suffered a "lost boy" . . . "Gusto" was running in a race which the late Walter O'Hara facetiously had called the Fourth Estate Stakes because he was so confident of the horse's victory that he had tipped it to all the newspapermen in the East, practically . . . Well, "Gusto" lost the race . . . He broke a leg a few yards from the wire in his honest effort . . . "Son of Tarra" finished sound and full of run . . . Rocco "Lost Boy" Sisto ordinarily is one of the most competent racerriders in the racket, it should be mentioned . . . He probably won't fall off another horse ever! Even if his stirrups slip . . . or his horse rears, or bucks, or lugs in or bears out or stumbles, if he has a hole in his head or leaps the fence into the infield . . . Rocco Sisto ordinarily is a pretty fair race-rider, we mean to say.

POLITICAL INTEREST runs high in the role played by Chief Justice of the Supreme Court Vinson in the Curley case . . . Washington insiders know that Chief Justice Vinson had a falling out with Atty. Gen. Tom Clark which continued for nearly eight months over the same Curley case . . . The present Chief Justice then was Secretary of the Treasury . . . He felt so strongly that the then-Congressman Curley was getting the worst of it that he pleaded with Atty. Gen. Clark to not prosse the case . . . Yet when Chief Justice Vinson presided over the highest juridical body the verdict against a review of the Curley case was returned with only one Associate Justice (Murphy) voting in the Boston mayor's favor.

FRANK PETTY AND his Trio are back at Joe Venuti's . . . Joe E. Lewis is making the Latin Quarter waiters remindful of the days when the honeymoon of the nightclubs and the public seemed an enduring love affair . . . The place is doing big business . . . Ray Bolger's "Three to Make Ready" will terminate its early summer run at the Colonial a week from Saturday night "because of matrimony"—a new reason for closing a hit show . . . Stanley Gilkey, producer of the show, swears that four of his key principals have set dates for weddings in June . . . He tried to bargain with two of them to hold their honeymoons in Boston . . . They said no . . . Whassa matter with Boston for a honeymoon? . . . Don't these actors like the swan-boats?

Broadway

NEW YORK, June 4—June Knight strolled Fifth ave. with her cab-calling gold whistle dangling from her wrist, and Vivienne Segal, who brags that she's been in the theatre for 31 years, turned up at the 1-2-3 looking just about 32 . . . Maurice Chevalier, an early diner at Leone's, sat at the Will Rogers table—and proprietor Gene sentimentally recalled the night, scarcely 15 years ago, when Maurice sat at that same table with Jimmy Walker, Hype Igoe, W. C. Fields and Damon Runyon, now all sadly gone.

June Knight

IN HIS WALDORF TOWERS apartment, the fabulously well-heeled Maharajah of Baroda, India, spent an afternoon conferring with an internationally impressive jeweler about the purchase of more precious stones, an always pleasant pastime, although in the case of the Maharajah, quite superfluous. His present stockpile of baubles includes the famous "Star of the South" necklace of diamonds valued at more than $1,000,000; a carpet four yards square of diamonds, pearls and rubies woven into a pattern, and a glamorous, if possibly uncomfortable pair of gem-encrusted pantaloons worth $50,000 . . . Almost at the same hour, a family of American Indians—equally worthy but considerably less glittering—invaded the Hotel Algonquin and asked to be shown to "the wedding." John Martin, the hotel's manager, told them there was no wedding scheduled in his precinct, but they insisted they'd been told the shindig was to be held "at a hotel on W. 44th st. with an Indian name." What but the Algonquin? Mr. Martin thought fast, whispered a few words, and sent momma squaw, poppa brave and papooses happily heading in the direction of the Hotel Iroquois, a few doors up the street.

EDDIE DAVIS, usually as pallid as a peeled cucumber, startled Broadway by returning from Florida with a copper-bronze tinge, and reported that when he opens at Leon and Eddie's tonight he intends to beat a few politicians to the punch by introducing a new ditty entitled "I Do Not Choose to Run in '48," not that anybody's asked him . . . Ruth Etting, now silver-white of hair, stepping into the spotlight of the Copacabana in a bronze beaded gown (worn backwards).

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON, June 4—It has taken me all these years to find out what is wrong with me. I had whooping cough when very young.

Psychiatric experts in St. Paul declare they have just discovered that whooping cough often leads to severe mental disturbances in the victim's later life.

For years I had labored under the delusion that my particular type of mental disturbance was traceable to just plain cussedness plus having been pelted on the head too much during my formative years in Canada when the hellions of our neighborhood declared war on the young cockneys residing on the other side of the ravine.

Those cockney kids were very handy with rocks and other throwables, although they lacked the advantage of a rounding in baseball. But they did remarkably well with their overarm bowling toss, often knocking one of us for a sticky wicket on the second bounce.

In those days child culture had not progressed to the point where kids were provided with the tin helmets youngsters wear today while playing at annihilating each other. We went into combat bareheaded—with practically shaven pates at that, because any hair on the noggin more than a quarter of an inch long was considered sissy in our set.

THERE WAS HARDLY a mother in our neighborhood who had not had hysterics when her "baby" came back from the barber's bereft of his lovely curls, looking as if he had just run afoul of a band of junior scalp-fancying Indians.

About this time I contracted whooping cough. Not realizing I was addling my brains for life I laid it on a little because the harder I coughed the more likely I was to get something I wanted—particularly at the expense of my sister, Mary, who pretended to have caught whooping cough, too, but was discovered to be malingering and got a few on the opposite end to that from which the phony barks were emerging.

I might have realized, had I been given to introspection, that something had ruffled my mental stability, because shortly thereafter I did something that caused me to be the subject of neighborhood scandal for days. My Aunt Lily had started to dress me and had just succeeded in forcing me into an undershirt, which fell somewhat short of the hips, when I heard a circus calliope.

I wriggled from her grasp and fled down the street with the shocked woman in full hue and cry after me. The circus was passing—and I wish to say it was one of the great triumphs of my life. For a good five minutes, until laid to heels and covered by a coat which some buttinsky loaned my Aunt Lily, I succeeded in taking attention away from the greatest show on earth.

My next offense, attributable, as I see it now, to whooping cough, occurred at our Sunday school picnic to Niagara Falls. Another junior member of our flock, Art Bond, and I got gassed up on lemonade. As the fumes of the deadly stuff mounted to our heads we became very brave. We decided on a contest to see who could lean the farthest over the falls without falling.

We had a Sunday school teacher whom we referred to adoringly as "Old Lady Malcolm," although possibly she was not as old as she seemed. We were inching over the falls, a sheer drop of hundreds of feet to jagged rocks, when she spotted us. Afraid to cry out for fear of startling us into a tumble she did a belly flop and crept through the grass, like an overweight boa constrictor.

"Old Lady Malcolm" raved it would be the death of her, and I guess it was. She died thirty years later.

The after-effects of whooping cough got me again a few weeks later when I went up to the most respected patriarch in our neighborhood—a gentleman with a somewhat stained white beard—and informed him that tobacco was a filthy habit.

THE INNOCENT derangement also got me gored and tossed by old Mrs. Liscomb's cow, although my father contended it was really my mother's fault in letting me go to see a picture in which Rudolph Valentino was a bullfighter. Mrs. Liscomb, I might add, was far from sympathetic. She contended her poor cow couldn't be blamed for becoming irked when a nasty young beast (meaning me) kept slapping it in the puss with a red petticoat and yelling fool, foreign words at it like "bravissimo!"

I can see now where whooping cough has been to blame for all my lapses. My mind became so disordered that finally I went to work on a newspaper.

Need any further evidence?

Junior League Tea

By BETTY ALDEN

THE BOSTON JUNIOR LEAGUE admitted 133 provisional members at the annual June tea yesterday. As for statistics on the new group, most of them are debs of the coming season, 85 per cent are going to college in the fall and some 30 per cent are still at boarding school and missed yesterday's gathering. They will be back next week, however, in time to take the course for provisional members and write a thesis on some phase of civic work.

Attractive among the new members is Ruth Storey who takes after her mother Mrs. Richard C. Storey in being an accomplished horsewoman. Appropriately, her printed dress was covered with colorful figures of jockeys, hitching posts and horses. Glimpsed her chatting with Myra Blanchard and Faith Turnbull, debs from Concord. Mary Sharp of Lowell wore a becoming gabardine suit and Karen von Saltza of Salem, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip von Saltza, formerly of Sweden, a gay little flower wreath with a black dress. She modestly admits she inherits a little of her father's talent as an artist.

Ruth Storey

Winsor classmates Harriett Walker of Brookline and Helen Swan of Weston chatted with Anne Leonard of Newton, a petite vivacious blondie. Other new members include Ann Bradford, daughter of the Governor, Jane Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Cox of Cohasset, Betsy Perry, Mary-Low Taylor, Mary Ann and Patricia Weld, Lucy Lowell, Ann Saltonstall, and Linda Cabot.

One new member unable to attend had a very good reason. She is Mrs. Thomas Newbold (Noreen Maxwell), who is at Richardson House where her son was born Sunday. She was an Australian war bride. Her mother is en route from Australia to visit her and is about as far as the Panama Canal today according to Katharine Newbold, the new baby's aunt.

DURING THE war honeymoons were crowded into a few brief days of leave from the Armed Services, so nowadays it is a pleasure to report plans for extended wedding journeys of society's young couples.

One of the most exciting honeymoon trips is that planned by Jean Cochrane and Charles Sumner Bird, 3d, whose wedding this Saturday will be one of the outstanding June nuptials. Jean and Charlie are going abroad to tour Ireland, England and the Scandinavian countries in their British Austin. They are even talking about staying abroad two years while Charlie studies at one of the British universities.

A motor trip to California is in store for Hope Noyes and Philip Stewart 2nd whose wedding will take place June 14. After a summer out West they will return to live in Cambridge while the bridegroom completes his education at Harvard. Nantucket for two weeks is the honeymoon destination of Barbara Bigelow of Framingham and David Balfour of New York who will be married June 14 in Framingham.

Frances Emery of Wellesley Hills and Edward C. Hills of Cleveland are being married June 1, and honeymooning in Bermuda and on Cape Cod. A wedding trip to Canada is planned by Sylvia Winsor of Chestnut Hill and Winthrop Wing of Taunton and Bennington, Vt., whose wedding will also be June 14, in Chestnut Hill.

ROBERT LOWELL MOORE, JR., of Concord, is host at a merry gathering this evening on the Sheraton Roof to celebrate commencement week at Harvard.

Egg Shampoo Wins Praise

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

THE ALL-IMPORTANT EGG certainly gets around. The indispensable ingredient of the pride-in-her-product cook . . . the requisite of a scientifically-balanced diet . . . the piece de resistance of corny jokes . . . the theme of a best seller and a delightful movie . . . The egg now breaks, literally and figuratively, into the beauty business.

The versatile egg now becomes a head-haloer. The good-to-eat egg now becomes a good-to-use ingredient of a new product which gives definite promise of tossing needed shimmering new highlights into hair heavy with dullness.

A noted beauty house . . . famous for its traditionally fine cosmetics . . . has now gone into the hair business, knowing full well there is a definite affinity between a beautiful complexion and a handsome head of hair. And from the beneficial qualities of the lowly but vital egg . . . this house has drawn inspiration for an entirely new, completely different kind of shampoo.

Not a soap, not a chemical shampoo . . . this fragrant liquid cream shampoo, enriched with egg concentrate, is the creation of the skilled cosmeticians who hang their hats in the famous laboratories of this beauty house.

If your hair is especially drab, damaged or unmanageable . . . don't get so thoroughly disgusted with its looks. Turn to this egg concentrate shampoo for new-found brilliance and radiance for your shoddy-looking locks. If your hair is silky-smooth and good-to-the-eye . . . and you want to keep it that way . . . preserve your hair beauty with this new egg cream shampoo.

SIMPLE TO USE AND EFFECTIVE

There's nothing tricky about its use. The shampoo, which is the color of the egg yoke, is more effective, however, when applied to wet hair. So first wet your hair with clear, tepid water. Pour about a tablespoon of this egg cream shampoo into your hand and, with the fingers, work it well into your scalp . . . your scalp, we said. Don't expect much lather the first application for the scalp has taken it up in its thirsting appreciation. It is the second application that produces heaps of creamy foam.

Go to work with your fingers over your scalp and hair . . . not permitting one errant strand to escape the benefits of this new-type shampoo. Finally, rinse the head thoroughly with plenty of tepid water. That's all there is to it.

As time marches on . . . the cosmetic chemists will continue to find more and ardent beauty uses for the simple items which sit quietly on the shelf in the pantry or in the refrigerator. For this is a postwar era in which practical miracles may be expected. We've seen a few to date. More are on their way.

With hot, sticky weather on its way . . . it behooves us fresh-as-a-daisy gals to keep the hair clean and fragrant . . . a high-lighted stage for a fetching bonnet or a few velvet bows. If you are going to be a hatless girl this summer . . . be a halo-ed damsel with hair silky and sun-kissed.

For the name of this new egg cream shampoo phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, daily except Sunday, or write to me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

EGG SHAMPOO has long been known as one of the best treatments for hair which has become dull, lifeless and as droopy-looking as a cocker spaniel's ears. Now a noted beauty house . . . which has recently added hair preparations to their famous line . . . borrows the good idea and improves upon it in a liquid cream shampoo.

THERE IS something new under the sun! And this Tina Leser playsuit with a stole is it! When you're cavorting in the country . . . or on the beach . . . you'll wear yellow and red plaid cotton with ample exposure for the sun to capture . . . but with it you'll tote a scarf fringed on each end . . . a plaything for the playsuit and a dramatic foil for personality expression.—R. M.

They Should Be Invited

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Two girls, both dear friends of mine, were married in the past year. I attended both wedding and receptions, and my fiance attended one. Now I am to be married, and since both these friends are living at quite a distance from here, it will be impossible for either of them to attend my wedding. Would it be proper to send them invitations? S. E.

By all means send invitations.

Recalling Days of Minuet

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

THE ROMANTIC days when beautiful women danced the minuet in candlelit ballrooms live again in the lovely evening gowns being shown in the summer collections.

Their beauty is ageless. Seeing them, you can almost hear the fiddlers playing their waltzes and the carriages coming up broad driveways to take the dancers home. These are important gowns. They are made of rich, heavy materials like taffeta, brocade, bengaline or satin, fabrics that can stand alone. Their lines make the most of the feminine figure. There is real molding through the bosom, waist and hips and sweeping flare below. Some of them have decorative little jackets, very tiny, very ornamental.

Taffy-colored bengaline makes the romantic gown designed by Carrie Munn and sketched today. The low-cut bodice is slim and molded. Without a break in line, it rounds the hips and flares into a full skirt. Jet bead embroidery with bead fringe carries out the lines of the dress and decorates the short jacket.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

THE WEDDING DAY: The bridesmaids may dress at the bride's home or at their own homes, and assemble at the residence of the bride—since they go to the church with her. Attendants' dresses should "go with" the bride's gown so it's usual for her to select her own dress before deciding what her attendants will wear.

Drink Plenty of Milk

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

MILK PAILS are always brimming full in June—and that's why this month is called "Dairy Month." Although the importance of using milk is dinned into our ears throughout the year, when a whole month is set aside for this purpose, it should get extra special attention—which it deserves.

Because milk is rich in so many important food values, it has often been called the "most nearly perfect food". It contains fat, as you can see when the cream rises to the top of the milk bottle. You can also see the protein in the form of curd, when milk sours. And you know that milk contains sugar, because it has a slightly sweet taste.

Milk is especially valuable for its calcium and phosphorus, which a scientist could show you by drying the milk and then burning it until the ash contains only the minerals. In addition, scientists have found that milk is particularly rich in vitamins A and G (riboflavin), B-1 (thiamine) and vitamin C—and that it also has some vitamin D.

CREAM OF CHICKEN SOUP

6 tbsp. chicken fat, butter or margarine 6 tbsp. flour
3 cups well-seasoned chicken stock
½ cup shredded cooked chicken
Salt and pepper
2 tbsp. minced chives or parsley 1 cup rich milk

Melt chicken fat, stir in flour, and when well blended, add chicken stock and milk slowly, stirring constantly over low heat until mixture boils. Add chicken, and season to taste with salt and pepper. Reheat and pour into cream soup dishes. Sprinkle chives or parsley on top. Makes 6 servings.

SCALLOPED POTATOES

6 medium-sized potatoes
2 tbsp. flour Salt and pepper
3 tbsp. butter or margarine
3 cups milk (about)

Wash and pare potatoes and cut in very thin slices. Place 1-3 of the potatoes in greased 2-quart baking dish. Sprinkle with salt, pepper, and 1-3 of the flour. Dot with 1 tablespoon of butter. Repeat twice. Pour in enough milk so that it can be seen through the top layer. Cover and bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) 30 minutes. Remove cover and continue baking about 15 minutes longer, until potatoes are tender and a brown crust has formed on the top. Makes 6 servings. (If desired, add 2 tablespoons minced onion to the potatoes.)

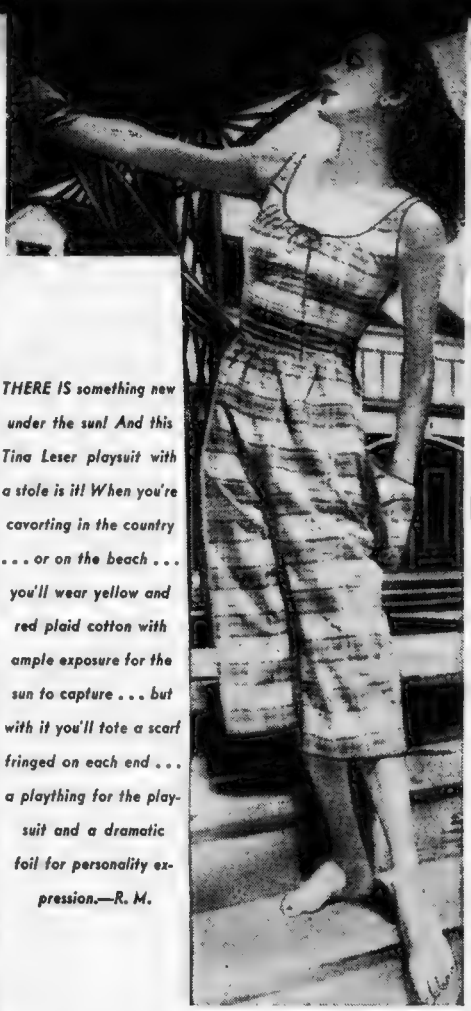
For this is a postwar era in which practical miracles may be expected. We've seen a few to date. More are on their way.

With hot, sticky weather on its way . . . it behooves us fresh-as-a-daisy gals to keep the hair clean and fragrant . . . a high-lighted stage for a fetching bonnet or a few velvet bows. If you are going to be a hatless girl this summer . . . be a halo-ed damsel with hair silky and sun-kissed.

For the name of this new egg cream shampoo phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, daily except Sunday, or write to me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

EGG SHAMPOO has long been known as one of the best treatments for hair which has become dull, lifeless and as droopy-looking as a cocker spaniel's ears. Now a noted beauty house . . . which has recently added hair preparations to their famous line . . . borrows the good idea and improves upon it in a liquid cream shampoo.



THERE IS something new under the sun! And this Tina Leser playsuit with a stole is it! When you're cavorting in the country . . . or on the beach . . . you'll wear yellow and red plaid cotton with ample exposure for the sun to capture . . . but with it you'll tote a scarf fringed on each end . . . a plaything for the playsuit and a dramatic foil for personality expression.—R. M.

They Should Be Invited

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Two girls, both dear friends of mine, were married in the past year. I attended both wedding and receptions, and my fiance attended one. Now I am to be married, and since both these friends are living at quite a distance from here, it will be impossible for either of them to attend my wedding. Would it be proper to send them invitations? S. E.

By all means send invitations.

Recalling Days of Minuet

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

THE ROMANTIC days when beautiful women danced the minuet in candlelit ballrooms live again in the lovely evening gowns being shown in the summer collections.

Their beauty is ageless. Seeing them, you can almost hear the fiddlers playing their waltzes and the carriages coming up broad driveways to take the dancers home. These are important gowns. They are made of rich, heavy materials like taffeta, brocade, bengaline or satin, fabrics that can stand alone. Their lines make the most of the feminine figure. There is real molding through the bosom, waist and hips and sweeping flare below. Some of them have decorative little jackets, very tiny, very ornamental.

Taffy-colored bengaline makes the romantic gown designed by Carrie Munn and sketched today. The low-cut bodice is slim and molded. Without a break in line, it rounds the hips and flares into a full skirt. Jet bead embroidery with bead fringe carries out the lines of the dress and decorates the short jacket.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

THE WEDDING DAY: The bridesmaids may dress at the bride's home or at their own homes, and assemble at the residence of the bride—since they go to the church with her. Attendants' dresses should "go with" the bride's gown so it's usual for her to select her own dress before deciding what her attendants will wear.

Drink Plenty of Milk

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

MILK PAILS are always brimming full in June—and that's why this month is called "Dairy Month." Although the importance of using milk is dinned into our ears throughout the year, when a whole month is set aside for this purpose, it should get extra special attention—which it deserves.

Because milk is rich in so many important food values, it has often been called the "most nearly perfect food". It contains fat, as you can see when the cream rises to the top of the milk bottle. You can also see the protein in the form of curd, when milk sours. And you know that milk contains sugar, because it has a slightly sweet taste.

Milk is especially valuable for its calcium and phosphorus, which a scientist could show you by drying the milk and then burning it until the ash contains only the minerals. In addition, scientists have found that milk is particularly rich in vitamins A and G (riboflavin), B-1 (thiamine) and vitamin C—and that it also has some vitamin D.

CREAM OF CHICKEN SOUP

6 tbsp. chicken fat, butter or margarine 6 tbsp. flour
3 cups well-seasoned chicken stock
½ cup shredded cooked chicken
Salt and pepper
2 tbsp. minced chives or parsley 1 cup rich milk

Melt chicken fat, stir in flour, and when well blended, add chicken stock and milk slowly, stirring constantly over low heat until mixture boils. Add chicken, and season to taste with salt and pepper. Reheat and pour into cream soup dishes. Sprinkle chives or parsley on top. Makes 6 servings.

SCALLOPED POTATOES

6 medium-sized potatoes
2 tbsp. flour Salt and pepper
3 tbsp. butter or margarine
3 cups milk (about)

Wash and pare potatoes and cut in very thin slices. Place 1-3 of the potatoes in greased 2-quart baking dish. Sprinkle with salt, pepper, and 1-3 of the flour. Dot with 1 tablespoon of butter. Repeat twice. Pour in enough milk so that it can be seen through the top layer. Cover and bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) 30 minutes. Remove cover and continue baking about 15 minutes longer, until potatoes are tender and a brown crust has formed on the top. Makes 6 servings. (If desired, add 2 tablespoons minced onion to the potatoes.)

Tex Hughson

Tebbetts' 'Boots' Lets 'Snakebite' Catch Up to Tex

By HERB FINNEGAN

ST. LOUIS, June 4—There is always plenty of time for barbering when the Red Sox are in St. Louis what with rain, night games and plenty of chairs available in the spacious Chase Hotel lobby. So today, as the boys were killing time before Joe Dobson (4-3) hooked up with Bob Muncrief (4-4) in a 5 o'clock game, the topic of conversation was injuries and their cause.

Dom DiMaggio is out "indefinitely" with a pulled muscle in his left shoulder. Previously he had been sidelined with a lame wrist and a groin strain.

"You say he hurt it swinging at a Rigney pitch," said the passing Jeff Heath of the Browns. "I can understand it. Vern Stephens hurt himself in similar fashion last year, and the 'pull' proved so serious he was benched for five weeks" (Stephens hurt himself at Fenway Park swinging at one of Ferriss' pitches.)

Yes, and Tommy Henrich hurt his wrist swinging at a pitch in Florida. It still bothers him so much he was unable to take part in the recent Sox-Yanks home-run contest.

"It's a combination of cold weather and failure to warm up properly," Heath guessed. "A ball player should warm up like a track man before a game—jogging and then trying a couple of fast starts, something with his arm. Lessens the chance of pulling if the muscles are properly stretched. Conditioning is a vital factor in baseball."

Earl Whitehill, Senators' star pitcher in the '30's, had been talking to Tex Hughson about Tex's failure to get going this year. "Are you working hard enough?" he asked the Sox pitcher. "I found the older I got, the harder I had to work to remain a winner. I ran and exercised more than I did when I was a kid. I had to."

"I NEVER felt better in my life than I did in the Army," volunteered Bobby Doerr. "I don't say that I was in condition for baseball, but I never had an aching back or other miseries that have plagued me this year."

"I'm in condition," Hughson insisted. "My only trouble is that I don't stick around long enough to prove it. But I'm going to prove it against these Browns. This being kayoed every other time has gone too far."

Hughson did prove he was in condition. He held the Browns hitless for the first five innings. Only one man reached second. Meanwhile, the Sox had taken a 2-0 lead on a walk to Gutteridge, Williams' triple and dependable Sam Mele's single.

In the sixth, Lehner, Heath and Zarilla hit safely to tie the game, but the Sox came back with two out in the ninth to go ahead, 3-2, on Mele's single and York's double off the right field screen.

Tex had given up only those three hits through eight innings, Tebbetts was coaching him expertly, making him take his time despite Umpire Rommel's protestations. So now there were only three men to get out and he would have a 3-4 record.

Judnich doubled, however, and Tex lost poise long enough to pass Early. At this pulsating juncture his Air Corps pal, Tebbetts, let him down. Peters batted for Kinder and bunted in front of the plate. Why Tebbetts threw to third is a mystery because Judnich was sliding. All hands safe, bases filled with nobody out.

Cronin called a conference. Should Johnson come in? "Let me finish," pleaded Tex. Dillinger was coming to bat and the early season sensation had made 15 trips to the plate without a hit. Maybe he'd hit into a DP. He didn't. He singled sharply to left. Judnich scored but Early didn't seem to have a chance, Williams took the ball on the first hop and made a perfect throw home. Tebbetts muffled the throw, as rancidly as a busher. Early scored and the Browns had won 4-3. Yes, Tex had proved he was in condition. He pitched the entire game and gave only five hits. But, and a big BUT, his "snakebite" had returned.

SOX HAVE won 3, lost 9 on the trip. They're not only losing, but giving them away. They lost a ninth-inning decision to the A's, handed one to the White Sox after Ferriss' victory and should have wrapped this one up early enough so that Hughson could have breathed more easily in the ninth . . . In the first inning, Gutteridge on first, Pesky hit into a DP, taking Williams out of the inning . . . Mele opened the seventh with a single. When York singled Mele hesitated at second, then broke for third. Heath threw him out easily and the inning fell apart . . . In the eighth, Gutteridge walked with one out. He tried to steal, was trapped and caught getting back to first. Pesky then walked and was thrown out stealing.

Williams and Mele promise to rank with Cobb-Crawford, Ruth-Gehrig and Co. if the opposition will pitch to Williams. Mele made three hits, was robbed of a fourth when Dillinger made a remarkable gloved-hand stab of his drive. He fielded smoothly in center, making a particularly nice catch of Judnich's sinking liner in the sixth. He's hustling every minute, as is Williams. Mele's batting .333, Moses .380, Williams .292 . . . Ted rolled to Judnich in the second, tripled high off the right field wall in the fourth, lined viciously to Heath (left) in the sixth, fanned in the ninth but had a beautiful cut at the ball.

KINDER'S RECORD is 3-0, and two of his victories have been registered over the Sox . . . Sox are now under the .500 mark with 20-21. Last year they didn't lose their 21st game until July 3 . . . Muncrief, like Kinder, whipped the Sox in Boston . . . Shortstop Vern Stephens, who used to hit .300 and who led the league in RBI (109) in '44, is batting only .210 . . . The night was chilly and only 7997 paid to see the last place Browns and Sox . . . Every time you quit on York, he makes you ashamed of yourself. His single and double were well hit.

"Positively no trading talk," said Muddy Ruel. "I haven't seen Cronin, and I don't intend to see him. Doubt that there will be much trading anyway. No club in our league has any depth, except perhaps Detroit in pitching. Maybe they'd sacrifice a pitcher for an infielder. There's a scarcity of big leaguers, will be for five years or until the younger generation takes over" . . . The 5 p. m. game time is an innovation in St. Louis. If the attendance jumps with the change, the Browns will start every daily single game at 5 . . . Mickey Harris pitched batting practice last night, had plenty on the ball and said he "felt good" all the way. Cronin was tickled with his performance. Year ago this time, Harris had an 8-1 record. He hasn't thrown a ball in a game this season . . . Browns have given up on Jerry Witte, first baseman who hit 46 home runs for Toledo last year. The long flies that went for home runs in the A. A. are just outs here . . . Bob Dillinger has stolen 12 bases. Red Sox as a team, have stolen only four.

Spahn Victim of Bad Breaks As Cards Snap Win Streak

By FRED HOEY

Charlie "Red" Barrett, who hurled grand ball for the Braves in his last three starts, will strive to put them back on the winning trail tonight at Braves Field when he opposes Al Brazle, the crack left-hander of the St. Louis Cards. The game starts at 8:30.

Even though the Tribe fell before the Cards last night they remain very much in the National League fight. It would require only a brief winning streak to put Bill Southworth and Company on top.

In facing Brazle tonight the Braves are going against one of the shrewdest southpaws in the game. He proved his mark against the RedSox in the last World's Series, when he was a member of the Red Sox team, pitched dazzling ball to Ted Williams last October.

The loss of Bob Elliott last night was a tough blow to the Braves but there is a chance that the heavy slugger will be back at third tonight. He is suffering from a bruised shoulder, but even Elliott's presence would have made little difference last night.

Big George Munger was in there against Warren Spahn, the Braves' ace southpaw who was seeking win No. 9. Munger gave the Braves six hits while Spahn in his eight innings allowed five hits. But how those hits were registered is a story in itself and involved some of the surest-fisted outfielding in baseball—Johnny Hopp.

In the fifth with two down Red Schoendienst hit an ordinary long fly to Hopp in center field. Believing it to be not, Johnny misjudged the ball. It went sailing to the fence as Red had a three bagger. Then followed another bad break for the Braves. Evan Dusak hit a hot bouncer back to Spahn. Warren kneed it down; made a fast recovery but his throw to Torgy Torgeson was low and the latter couldn't handle it.

The first run scored. Then came the anemic hitting Stan Musial to hit a homer into the right field bull pen to score two more runs and the game went out the window. The misjudged fly caused it all.

So Spahn stops his winning streak with eight although it was a tough one for him to take under the circumstances. Earl Torgeson hit safely on his last trip and carried his consecutive hit record to 15 games.

Walter Lanfranconi twirled the ninth against the Cards and put them down in order.

Two fine young players reported yesterday to the Braves but sad to relate they are here for hospitalization. One is Gene Patton, 20-year-old second baseman from the Hartford Braves who is suffering from a cracked pelvis caused by sliding into a base. Patton is a left-handed hitter and reports tab him a real comer . . . The other casualty from the Braves farm is Billy Sanders the Hartford outfielder who is here to be treated for a chronic sacroiliac trouble. Sanders is only 18 years old, yet has been in organized ball three years. The Phils picked him up in Fort Worth and sent him to Utica. He was sent to Terra Haute where he was "covered up." Jack Ogden of the Braves learned of the kid and grabbed him from the Phils when he was declared a free agent. Sanders is a ringer for Mel Ott in action, being a sturdy left-handed batter.

The terrific wind which preceded yesterday's rain cost the Braves nearly $4000 when their new infield canvas tore loose from its moorings and sailed over to the end of the grandstand in right field where it was ripped to shreds. Even the desperate hold of 17 ground forces was failed to neck the flight of the canvas . . . it 7:30 less than 200 were lined up in front of the grandstand box offices. One hour later the grandstand was packed. What hardy souls! . . . Most of the scribes deserted the Arctic winds blowing into the press box for the comfortable so-called Yacht Club on the mezzanine floor which is classed in.

Following the Card series which closes tomorrow afternoon Johnny Neun and his Cincinnati Reds will be in for are light games Friday and Saturday nights and a double-header Sunday . . . Johnny Beazley and Trainer Dr. Charlie Lacks of the Braves left last night for New York where Johnny will receive treatment from Dr. Simon Roskuns for his arm ailment. The Braves trainer will observe the treatment methods . . . It was learned that Elliott is suffering from a cold in his shoulder. Bob was a pretty active infielder in Sunday's twin bill with the Pirates. Bob's loss hurts, too, since he's batting .336 and has batted in 30 runs, not to overlook the four round trippers he has hit.

When Johnny Hopp doubled in the first it was his 10th straight game in which he has hit safely . . . Mgr. Joe Cronin of the Sox after watching Schoendienst as a switch batter in the last World's Series remarked that the Card second sacker was the only turn around batter who used the same stance and form at either side of the plate.

WGA Title Tourney in 2d Round

By BILL GRIMES

Two of the four unmarried women who weather the opening round of the W. G. A. title tournament at the Belmont Country Club yesterday will be in tomorrow's gallery.

Miss Rosamond "Pinky" Vahey, Oakley, a former state champion, who eliminated Mrs. E. H. Baker, her clubmate and five-time winner of the Bay State crown, is playing Miss Priscilla Bailey, Marshfield, sister of Mrs. Paul Black, the defending champion.

In the lower half of the draw, there's another maiden match between Miss Dorothy Sullivan, Commonwealth, and Miss Cynthia Richardson, Highland.

Due to the experience she has acquired playing in national, sectional and state titular events Miss Vahey is favored over Miss Bailey, who is a neophyte in state championship match play competition. Miss Bailey is a power hitter but, at the moment, her game isn't steady enough to get past a veteran such as Miss Vahey. The Marshfield girl was carried to the 18th green by Mrs. Joseph Welch, Jr., Charles River, in the opening round.

After her 19-hole win over Mrs. George Norby, Wachusett, Dorothy Sullivan should have a slight edge over Cynthia Richardson. The Attleboro lass, however, is a grand competitor and the Commonwealth representative must keep her mind on her work throughout the entire match.

Mrs. Paul Black, who made short work over Miss Lucille Belanger, United Shoe, is playing Mrs. James Parker, 2nd, Myopia. The champion hasn't played too much golf this spring and therefore will get better as she advances.

Playing Mrs. J. W. Nicolls, Jr., Brae Burn, Mrs. Paul Kirby, Haverhill, who was the medalist of the qualifying round and a 7 and 6 winner over Miss Margaret Curtis, Essex, shouldn't have any trouble reaching the quarter-finals.

Mrs. Paul Kirby is an odds-on favorite to become the 1947 champion.

Mrs. C. F. Eaton, Jr., T.C.C., who has been a finalist in state championship, is playing Mrs. C. C. Vaughan, Leo Martin, while Mrs. Henri F. Prunaret, Charles River, another unsuccessful finalist, is out with Mrs. John H. Nies, United Shoe, who upset predictions by beating Mrs. Willard Howard, T.C.C., at the 20th hole in the opening round.

Mrs. William N. Austin, Dedham, one of the two former title-holders to survive the first match play test, is playing Mrs. Donald K. McClusky, Worcester, who was the unsuccessful finalist a year ago at the Charles River Country Club. This match promises to be one of the best of the day.

The last match today matches Mrs. Winthrop G. Dow, Wellesley, and Mrs. Charles Bartholomew, Brae Burn, who have played in more state championships than they care to admit.

$200 FOR HOME RUN

TOKYO, June 4 (AP)—The Nippon Professional League announced a "Sayonara" home run prize of 10,000 yen will be presented to any hitter who poles a game-winning four-bagger in the last inning of any baseball game played between today and June 29.

"Sayonara" means "good-bye." And 10,000 yen means $2[illegible].

Gil Dodds to Run In Wakefield Mile

Gil Dodds will compete in a special mile event as the feature attraction of a NEAAU championship track meet, sponsored by the St. Joseph's A. A. of Wakefield at Walton Field, Wakefield, on Tuesday evening, June 24.

Title events include the senior six-mile run and junior 100, 440 and 880-yard runs. Other races include an open 100, 440 and mile run. Ralph Coison is the meet director.

First Step Seen Taken For Naming Hockey Czar

MONTREAL, June 4 (AP)—What may prove to be the first step toward over-all organization of hockey and appointment of a commissioner or "czar" to rule the sport was taken last night by the governors of the National Hockey League when they approved the holding of a general hockey congress.

The governors voted approval of a plan to co-operate with the American Hockey League, the United States Hockey League and the various amateur bodies to hold such a congress at a time and place to be set.

The idea was formulated during discussions between President Clarence Campbell of the N. H. L., President Maurice Podoloff of the A. H. L., former President Paul Loudon of the U. S. H. L. and amateur executives.

The proposed congress will be an informal meeting or forum, with no power to rule on players or agreements. But it is expected to prove of great worth in getting the professional and amateur representatives together to talk over their problems and reach understandings that then could be taken up at regular meetings.

No names have been advanced for the post of commissioner, since the idea still is in the talking stage, but there is a strong feeling in some quarters that Lester Patrick would be ideal.

TEXAS BALL LIVELY

LUBBOCK, Tex., June 4 (AP)—Home runs come cheap in the West Texas-New Mexico League—that is, for the fans. The way the boys are socking the pellet over the fence may cause a baseball shortage and the freat offices to worry about the expense.

The fence-rattling clubs in the Cactus circuit rapped out a gaudy total of 234 round-trippers in the first 136 games—an average of 1.7 per game. This is some sort of record or something. Anyway, it's something. The fans love it; merrily clicking turnstiles show that.

Classical 'Tam to Beat' In Schoolboy Tourney

By MIKE JILLOOLY

Handicapped from the start with the tabbing of "favorite" in the four-day tourney of the Schoolboy Writers' Ass'n, Lynn Classical High School will pit its no-hit ace, Johnny Rubinowski against the Boston city champion, B. C. High, as the schoolboys move into the upper half of the bracketing at Fenway Park tomorrow afternoon (2 p. m.).

JACK CONCANNON
Captain of B. C. High Nine

In the other half of a dandy doubleheader, Norwood High, Bay State League leader, and Belmont, Middlesex king, will provide the action for the fans.

Classical, with an overall record of 11-1 for the season, has assumed the role of the "team to beat" because of the type of opposition subdued in winning the Essex County crown. Coach Bill Joyce' boys have withstood the threats from possibly the speediest league in Greater Boston, one of the main factors in establishing the Lynn club as the long-range choice.

In taking over the front-running position, the Lynn infield had much to contribute to this selection. First baseman Harry Agganis has few equals in his position; shortstop George Bullard rates with the best in scholastic ranks; and to round out the quarter, there's Capt. Saul Sherman, with a loft .535 batting average, at 3b, and the slick Tom Smith at 2b.

Rubinowski, a sophomore, has been the staying point of the staff for the season, topping off his performance with a no-hitter. He'll be backed up by twirling mates Pete Pujo and Alex McKay as Classical goes after its 14th straight victory.

Coach Dan Weitekamp of the Eaglets has been juggling Dave Crehan and Bob Guisti in an attempt to settle on his starter. It's likely he'll come up with Crehan because of his edge in experience. Crehan was the starter in the critical game against English a week ago, although he gave way to Guisti. If B.C.H. has a working margin in late innings to move into the semi-finals (Friday), this shift may be attempted again.

B.C. High will be no pop-over. In Capt. Jack Concannon, the in-town representative has one of the best all-round second-basemen in the tournament. Clicking to a tidy .408, a 3-year regular, and another acorn in a long line of great baseball players, Concannon will be leading a well-balanced and well-organized outfit into the tournament.

The Norwood-Belmont clash will provide a mound duel between Teddy Campisano and Dick Long with plenty of hitting power on both sides.

Big Cod, Flounders Running In Waters Off Plum Island

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Big codfish and flounders are running in the waters off Plum Island, Newburyport, Newbury and Salisbury, according to our old friend, Orin Arlin, coastal warden of this section, who adds that a few pollock have also been taken. The latter species is also in evidence in the Ipswich Bay area, and the vicinity of Bar Island Head and Emerson's Rocks.

"The waters of the North Shore, Merrimac River, Plum Island Sound, Ipswich River, Castle, Parker and Essex Rivers have yet to yield any striped bass," says Orin. "There's good white perch fishing in the Parker River, at Newbury, particularly in the region from Thurlow's Bridge upstream to Titcomb's apple orchard."

Speaking of the beautiful Parker River, the stripers are late arriving in this stream, as they are elsewhere. At the height of the season, the river never exactly "teems with stripers," but plenty of good-sized fish are taken at certain stretches, usually by trolling seaworms and spinners . . . Boats are available at Bunny Fernald's livery, near the Rt. 1-A bridge.

In reply to many inquiries concerning the whereabouts of striped bass in the North and South Rivers, we've heard of only one or two sporadic catches in each stream. But be patient; the fish will start to strike in the near future.

OUTDOOR O. O.'S: Rifle and pistol enthusiasts are looking forward to some keen competition at the New Hampshire Sportsmen's Show, scheduled for Labor Day week-end, at the Spruce Pond Camp in the Bear Brook Reservation, Allentown, N. H. . . . Cash prizes will be awarded in the small bore rifle events, and there will be a contest for the state championship at 50 yards . . . More than 500 entries are expected by Elmer Gibbs, chairman of the Rifle and Revolver Committee for the sponsoring N. H. Federated Sportsmen's Clubs.

In response to requests from clubs for information about improving pheasant habitat in their regions, experts of the N. H. Fish and Game Department's research division have prepared a bulletin and chart outlining best food species to plant, how to plant them, plus a sketch of the proper relation of food and cover distribution needed to provide good pheasant habitat . . .

Ben Jones, Son Jimmy Irate at N. Y. Swerve Of Armed From Gold

By HORACE WADE

FACES OF BEN JONES and his son, Jimmy, are no less crimson these days than the devil's-red silks of the Calumet Farm they train. The popular and successful team, which has guided the racing affairs of the Warren Wright stable to heights unsurpassed by any other owner in this land, is currently boiling with indignation over the real or fancied slight of the New York big-wigs in deliberately making Armed ineligible for the coming running of the $100,000 International Gold Cup.

Conditions of the race bar geldings from competition, while admitting the entire horses Stymie and Assault to the ranks. Inasmuch as these two are bitter rivals of Armed for all-time money-winning honors, the Joneses consider this to be a malicious bit of business to insure against Calumet's golden gelding ever attaining the heights currently controlled by Whirlaway.

The Calumet Farm will therefore again concentrate its strength in Chicago for the Arlington and Washington Park meetings, and go after all big-money races written into the book.

They likewise plan to point Armed for the Monmouth Handicap and any other event along the eastern seaboard that will enable him to move ahead in the money-gleaning ranks, not so much because of an insatiable greed as because of an honest enthusiasm for keeping all-time honors secure within the Calumet fold.

ARMED IS REPORTEDLY training well again after his injury in the Gulfstream Park Handicap, and should be at top form for his return to the wars.

His ability to show high speed in sprints, after a freshening-up is as astounding as his courage over a distance of ground, and those who rate him above Exterminator as the finest gelding in history have quite a few talking points.

One thing is certain; whereas the King Ranch and Hirsch Jacobs will retire their color-bearers to the breeding farm in the full flush of youth, Armed will keep at the grind until he has about outlived his earning usefulness.

That is the penalty of being a gelding.

THERE IS ALSO some talk circulating on the turf that the Jones', pere and frere, are on the outs with Charlie McLennan, and may even duck meetings this fall controlled by the Garden State Park and Pimlico racing secretary.

Whether this has to do with weight assignments, or is just a personal peeve, is not passed along by our informant, but we for one look for everything to be serene along the Potomac long in advance of fall meets in Maryland.

Neither Ben nor his son, trainer Jimmy, can afford to pass up any meetings that show as high purses as Garden State Park and Pimlico, and whatever their grievances are, these can be overshadowed by a $50,000 purse.

AS THE CALUMET Farm prepares to bring Armed back to the races there will also be considerable interest attached to the weight package he is assigned in the major Chicago races.

The 129 pounds he bore like a tag of feathers at Gulfstream Park to beat the best horses in training was concrete evidence that he is head and shoulders above the field, with the possible exception of Assault and Stymie, and there will be a storm of protest unless he is assigned a more steadying impost.

Rumblings of a strike at Gulfstream Park, with wholesale scratching among other owners in the handicap won by Armed, were widely heard before that race. In this event, however, Armed was assigned the same package he carried in the Widener Handicap, and the identical weight he faltered under in the Santa Anita.

He must be asked to pick up a few pounds in his Chicago starts if other owners are to be made happy.

THE DUEL for honors among the big three—Armed, Assault and Stymie—looms as the most interesting contest of this or any year, regardless of whether or not they ever meet in active competition on the running strips.

Sentiment among many may lean heavily in Armed's direction because of the rather deliberate affront in barring him from the richest summer race, the International Gold Cup. The sporting fan will be rooting for him to overcome that decided handicap.

Bowling Champion Draws Suspension

LOS ANGELES, June 4 (AP)—Suspension of Max Stein, Belleville, Ill., champion bowler, from membership in the Los Angeles Bowling Ass'n, was announced last night by Charley Bragg, association president.

Bragg told reporters that Stein admitted listing two fictitious names and scores among leaders in the recent $10,000 National Bowlers Journal tournament in Hollywood. A complaint was made by Mort Luby, publisher of the Journal, and Bragg said Stein was called before the association executive committee May 28.

Home Runs Keep Giants on Top

Although the New York Giants are the surprise team of the major leagues, there is no secret why Mel Ott's gang is at the top of the National League today, according to the Associated Press. The answer lies in their big, booming home run bats. It has been the four-base blow, more than anything else, that has been directly responsible for a large majority of their victories.

In 29 games of which they've won 23, the slugging men of Ott, led by Johnny Mize, the majors' leading homer hitter, have walloped 48 four-baggers. At this rate, they not only will better their previous high water mark of 143 in 1930, but top the team record of 182 set by the New York Yankees in 1936.

Mize, whose 14 home runs to date puts him two days ahead of Babe Ruth's record-breaking pace of 60 home runs in 1927, is followed by Willard Marshall and Bobby Thomson, eight; Billy Rigney, six, and Walker Cooper, four.

The Giants hit three circuit smashes at the Polo Grounds last night to whip the Chicago Cubs 8-3 and take over sole possession of first place. The defeat dropped the Cubs into second place, one game behind and only three percentage points ahead of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Dodgers swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh at Ebbets Field, outslugging the Pirates 11-6 and 8-7 to move into third place past the Boston Braves who were shut out by the St. Louis Cardinals, 3-0, in Boston. Philadelphia advanced from seventh to sixth past Cincinnati by downing the Reds, 4-1, at Philadelphia.

The New York Yankees, led by Joe DiMaggio, blanked the Detroit Tigers, 3-0, to narrow the Bengals' first place lead in the American League to two games. Washington went into a virtual fifth place tie with the Philadelphia Athletics by nosing out the third place Cleveland Indians, 6-5, in Cleveland. The last place St. Louis Browns came from behind to nip the Boston Red Sox, 4-3, and the Chicago White Sox defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 3-0, at Comiskey Park. Every game except the Dodger-Pirate and the Yankee-Tiger games was played at night.

The Giants collected only 10 hits off three Cub hurlers but half of them were for extra bases including homers by Marshall, Cooper and Sid Gordon. Marshall, who also singled, drove in three runs to help Lefty Dave Koslo register his fifth win against two defeats.

Rex Barney received credit for both Dodger victories. The fireball righthander started the opener and was lifted for a pinch hitter in the sixth inning with the Brooks ahead 10-4. He was relieved in the sixth inning of the nightcap after the Bucs had overcome a 6-0 Dodger lead and were trailing 8-7 with men in scoring position, but checked the Pirates thereafter.

Shecolboy Row, recovered from his arthritis attack, spaced 10 hits to register his seventh win against one defeat for the Phils.

Homers ruined the Indians. After Stan Spence and Buddy Lewis had hit four-baggers to keep the Senators in the game, Gerry Priddy hit one in the top of the ninth to give the Nats the deciding run.

Lawrence Try-outs Draw 250

By JACK CONWAY, JR.

Tomorrow afternoon will be the most important single afternoon in the amateur baseball history of the Lawrence - Lowell - Haverhill area. Starting at 3 p. m. more that 250 sandlot baseball players from the ages of 15 to 18 will begin to congregate at O'Sullivan Park in Lawrence for the giant Boston Record-American-Sunday Advertiser sandlot baseball championships.

The trial, which will be conducted by George Atkinson, owner of the Lawrence Millionaires, Mark Devlin, famous high school coach, George Kissell, Millianaire manager and the other members of the board, will last all afternoon.

The two best ball players from this area will be selected by the coaches to take the trip to Fenway Park on July 29th and play in the All-New England Sandlot title game. The N. E. final this year, will be played as part of a Red Sox-Cleveland doubleheader. The Sox play the first game. The sandlotters play the second.

Then on to New York, the Polo Grounds, and Babe Ruth for the TWO best in the Boston game. The National Hearst championship game will be played on Aug. 13th.

Every player who appears at O'Sullivan Park tomorrow afternoon will be given a thorough work out in all baseball departments. Many players on the Millionair's squad will be on hand to aid in the try outs. Coaches from all sections of the area will be there with ball teams.

Brother Furnan, at Keith Academy in Lowell, sends word that this is just the kind of promotion that amateur baseball needs. "I will be at O'Sullivan Park with most of the ball players at Keith Academy," he said.

Hubert Kelley, coach of the Lawrence American Legion, has the distinction of placing the two boys on last year's Hearst team from Lawrence. They are both back for their second crack at big time honors. They are first baseman Tommy Ruffen an pitcher Dick Kowalski.

Watch tomorrow's Boston American for the announcement of another New England tryout session in the Hearst National Sandlot baseball championships.

Suffolk to War on 'Sore' Horses

By DAVE WILSON

NARRAGANSETT PARK, R. I., June 4—Allan J. Wilson, energetic general manager of Suffolk Downs, will wage war on "sore" horses at the forthcoming summer session at Suffolk Downs. Wilson firmly believes that the appearance of "sore" thoroughbreds in races is one of the greatest menaces confronting modern-day racing and he is planning to do something constructive to remedy the evil at the forthcoming East Boston meeting.

Trainer Howard Hoffman reports that the good handicap runner Midway Sun is training briskly for an early debut at Narragansett Park. Midway Sun is an oversized gelded son of Sun Teddy-Imola and is owned by Ernest W. Cragin, the mayor of Las Vegas, Nevada. Midway Sun appeared to be as promising a performer as the aircraft carrier until he bowed a tendon at Rockingham late in the summer session of 1946 and that leads to the interesting and sentimental story of how the horse acquired his name.

It seems that Cragin's son was a Navy photographer aboard the Midway when Cragin acquired him at the yearling sales . . . Cragin named the horse Midway (the carrier) and Sun (part of Sun Teddy, the sire). Cragin wrote to the boy and told him about the horse. Soon he received a reply saying that if the horse were as good as the ship, he'd be a champion. The tragic part is that the son was killed shortly thereafter in the second battle of the Philippine Sea and never did have a chance to see the horse run.

Trainer John Brouse has entered B. A. Dario's Slender Lady in today's seventh race at Narragansett Park and if past performances mean anything a muddy or an "off" racing strip will be the order of the day . . . This mare, according to Brouse, can't outfoot the proverbial fat man in the goo . . . John has entered and scratched his mare so often because of rain and "off" tracks, since she last faced the barrier on May 8 at Suffolk Downs that race-trackers have nicknamed her "The Rainmaker."

Thirty-five of the 43 horses eligible for Saturday's $10,000 Spring Handicap at Narragansett Park are on the grounds and it is quite possible that the initial stake of the current meeting will be run in two divisions . . . Polynesian's status in the race is stilly doubtful . . . Racing Secretary Ty Shea hadn't heard up to a late hour yesterday whether or not the great Widener sprinter would be shipped on from Delaware . . . Polynesian is generally regarded as the best sprinter on this side of the Atlantic and he has been assigned the top impost of 134 pounds.

Racing Secretary Gordon Morrow is busy penning a condition book for the initial meeting at Lincoln Downs which is slated to get under way on July 7 . . . Mickey Brooks, who makes the morning line overnight for Narragansett Park, is shopping for a second-hand undertaker's costume for his private betting commissioner, Charley (Stenelsky) Garabedian . . . Mickey, who has a decided liking for odds-on favorites, insists that Garabedian takes but never brings back, much in the manner of an undertaker.

CANNONEERS—Joe DiMaggio (left) and George McQuinn of Yankees look over bat Joe used to get four straight hits against Tigers in Tuesday's game to lift average to .368 and pass McQuinn, who is hitting .351. Joe's great hitting is major reason Yanks are zooming toward former spot as A. L. pacemakers.

Bucs to Train On West Coast

PITTSBURGH, June 4 (INS)—This, the [illegible] Chamber of Commerce [illegible] probably won't [illegible] thunderous [illegible] echo from Biscayne [illegible] Lake Okeechobee and [illegible] Tampa harbor.

But general manager H. Roy Homey of the Pittsburgh Pirates, doesn't care how much thunder rumbles in Florida, or how much tub-thumping results in California.

The fact is, the Pirates are "going Hollywood."

One year of spring training in Florida was more than sufficient. Two-inch "dews," and 50-mile zephyrs notwithstanding, the Buccos are returning to the Golden State for 1948—the state where they've trained 20 times in the past 25 years.

Said Haney today in announcing the return to the west:

"Our Miami beach training camp would have been fine but for three things.

"First, hotel prices apparently made a balloon ascension by the time we got there. The accommodations weren't too good, either.

"Second, the weather was worse than we'd expect even in California.

"And third, the playing field, by no great stretch of the imagination, might as well have been called pebble beach."

So they'll be at the home of the Hollywood club of the Pacific Coast League next spring for conditioning.

Greyhounds Go At Wonderland

They're off at Wonderland tonight for the 13th annual running of the greyhound race meeting of the galloping bowwows with the first race going to post at 7:30 p. m. Tonight will be the first of 100 straight nights of greyhound racing sponsored by the Revere Racing Ass'n. Racing will continue all summer long, which should give loyal followers of the flying grewhounds ample time to watch their individual favorites perform over the Revere racing strip.

With two solid weeks of extensive schooling races behind them the sleek racers, pups and veterans alike, are all in excellent condition for the split-second break out of the starting box; the sprint to the important first turn; the endurance to hold on around the three-quarter pole and the power needed to gun through the homestretch with a little left over for the driving finish which is characteristic of the hard-running greyhounds.

Swifty, the smart, cagey electric rabbit at Wonderland, veteran of 12 straight years of open competition, will lead to post in Wonderland's big Innaugural race, highlight of the evenings racing program, eight of the fastest mixed field of pups and veteran racers ever to compete against one another. They were picked by their qualifying races in their schoolings by the racing secretary.

Starting off the field is Jimmy Ryan's famous veteran, Bit of Buzz who raced so well this past winter in Florida. Next to be named was Helen Herring's speedy juvenile, Lucky Ally. The balance of the field will be made up of Lindy Rock, owned oy H. F. Anderson; Task Force, owned by A. Wilson; Hack Wagner, owned by Earl Williams; Patrick Life, owned by Cain & Life; Scat 'N' Go, owned by Knox Bros. and Colfax owned by Frank Lane.

A new special race for Massachusetts owners only, which will be the fifth race on the Wonderland program, nightly plus, by popular demand, at least one Revere Course—a distance of 675 yards — will be new racing features.
